Headmaster's Forward

It is a joyous task to recall some of the events of a busy school year, especially when this period is filled with such remarkable accomplishments as those endangered by the Graduates of 1992. With the numbers of Provincial Scholarships at a record high from the Graduating Class of 1991, many of us believed that this achievement would remain untouched for a while until, perhaps, in the cycle of things, another group would eventually emerge. The waiting period was short: the 1992 Graduating Class equalled the number of Provincial Scholarships from the year before (51), a figure representing 42% of the Grade 12's in receipt of this prestigious award. On average the provincial Government awards these scholarships to 3% of the total population of Grade 12 students in British Columbia.

What is also worthy of mention by the Grads of 1992 is that en route to these exceptionally fine results, they found time to train and to hone their skills sufficiently to win two Provincial Championships in Basketball and Rugby, a feat last achieved by a Victoria school in 1974. In addition, many of these same students, of course, delighted us on stage with their histrionics, at performances with their music and at exhibitions with their art. It is, indeed, by this dedicated and varied energy on the part of students and faculty alike, that the school can sustain its fine all-round record. It is certainly not the case of the school setting out deliberately to win everything at all costs: such a goal would become self-defeating by its narrowness.

What distinguishes a good school is the degree of intellectual, aesthetic and physical vitality that exists whereby students are buoyed to perform, and, by so doing, accrue excellent results almost as a natural by-product. Once an impressive record has been compiled, there is often and innate and unspoken desire for others who follow to add to it. This motivation itself is self-perpetrating.

The quality of the environment is, therefore, everything. Where S.M.U.S. scores heavily is in its calibre of teachers. By their inspirational instruction, and by their endless hours of caring, shown in their dedication to marking and coaching, they provide students with a reason to work. On their part, students are willing to take risks, exert and push themselves academically and in every other way because, in the context of this community, there is always someone near at hand to help.

The student leaders themselves are also instrumental in contributing to the ethos which promotes vibrancy. In Head Girl and Boy, Shanti Atkins and Jason Winters, and in the School Captain Scholars, Jenny Ellis and Choshu Ito, such a force existed last year. They organized, supervised, promoted and engineered indefatigably and by their example set the pace and the ambience by which other students were keen to develop their expertise in a variety of activities, the fabric of the school. To them all I am most indebted.

It is in preparing students for university that the School is known. By the quality of its graduates, therefore, and its classroom performance, S.M.U.S. stands or falls. To help us monitor our preparatory courses, to keep track of your progress and development at the tertiary level and to learn from your experiences, we must have our graduates maintain contact with the school. Write, telephone or drop in whenever you are able. Your teachers, current students, the administration and Mr. Chris Spicer, our new Director of Development and alumnus of St. Michael's (1960-63) and University School (1963-70), will be delighted to welcome you and to thank you yet again for contributing so much to the fine tradition of S.M.U.S. With this vitality ingrained in the infrastructure of the school, all students will forever have a legacy to embrace, the greatest gift that each senior year can leave to those who come after.

Good luck and best wishes to you all.

David R. Penaluna, BA, MEd,
Headmaster

Board of Governors

To The Students of St. Michaels University School,

I am pleased to be asked to write a few words to you on behalf of the Board of Governors.

The School has been educating people since 1906 but it is not just another educational institution. It has many more facets than granting a Grade 12 diploma. Our School's philosophy is to help you learn to become well rounded individuals actively participating in your communities. Hopefully you will remember the virtues of caring and helping those less fortunate than you, the virtues of working and playing hard, and the virtues of giving your best in whatever you do in life, whether it be in the classroom, the games field, your career or your friends and family. No doubt there will be reverses, times when you feel like giving up, but if the goal is worthwhile and realistically achievable, go for it. Do not let the momentary doubts, from which we all suffer, turn you aside.

I hope that you will prize your individualism and independence. Stand up for what you believe in. Do not be afraid to ask questions, to be creative in your thoughts or to express what you believe. That is how we learn and hopefully our Society will improve.

The Board of Governors and I wish all the best of success and enjoyment for the next year.

Christopher M. Considine,
Chairman

Yearbook Staff

Production on this year's book has been slow, but we finally finished. with a steady staff of about 7 people, it was very difficult to accomplish a lot in the time allotted us.

Thank to Noelle Davis, my co-editor, who did quite a lot of behind the scenes work. Special thanks to Sandie Yew and Joanna Piercy who took charge of the Grad section, a job that is not at all easy. Also thanks to Caroline Large, who gathered the advertising. Without the invaluable help of these people, your year-book would NEVER arrive.

I extend my sincerest gratitude to Mrs. Richards at the Middle School and Mrs. Campbell at the Junior School for all their hard work in finishing their sections of the book long before the Seniors did.

Finally, a very big thank you to the artists who created the covers and dividers. To Kevin Price, who created this year's cover, my thanks for sticking to my deadlines. Also thanks to our divider artists: Brian Scanlan, Adam Sawatsky, Steve Price, Chris Bateman, Caroline Thompson, Kevin Leong and Joanne Hughes.

With the addition of a much larger staff for next year, we hope to have the next book out much sooner. Thanks to all the staff and students for their patience in waiting for our infamous yearbook. See you all next year.

Jennifer Duguid
Co-editor

SMU Junior School

A black and white line drawing of four children interacting with the text 'SMU Junior School'. The text is rendered in a large, bold, sans-serif font. The word 'SMU' is at the top, 'Junior' is in the middle, and 'School' is at the bottom. A girl with pigtails stands on the 'J' in 'Junior', holding onto it. A boy stands on the 'r' in 'Junior', holding onto it. A girl sits on the 'h' in 'School', waving her hand. A boy stands on the 'S' in 'School', holding onto it. The entire scene is framed by a rough, hand-drawn border.

Director's Forward

This Year, as in previous years, Junior School life continues to be fast paced, challenging and imbued with a spirit of camaraderie between students and staff, which could be hard for any other school to match. The success of the Junior School is largely due to the energy, creativity, and team spirit fostered by the staff, qualities for which I commend and thank them.

Reflecting on this past school year, I feel there are two areas which have had a significant impact on the programmes in the Junior School. Together they are certainly propelling it into the 21st century. One area is the expansion of the computer room. With the increased space, the lab is more efficient and the programmes conducted more sophisticated and challenging. Computers are emerging as useful tools in other subject areas, since the staff are also developing their computer literacy skills and incorporating computer usage in their programmes.

The other area in which there has been considerable growth is the library. In keeping with the Education 2000 philosophy, the staff are developing research based programmes and the students are developing their research skills. At appropriate times, the students are able to pursue their own interests at their individual levels of ability.

The Grade 5 investigation into the history of flight, incorporating Art, Music, Social Studies, English and Science, was a true example of this; the culmination being the production of "Sky Happy".

Students' academic achievements and activities have been consistently outstanding throughout the year, as the following pages attest. Emphasis at the primary and intermediate levels is on universal participation, anticipating that given the diverse nature of our programmes, opportunities will occur for all children to excel in their own particular areas of interest.

Our kindergarten students keep us refreshed and honest with their original perspectives. The primary students are keen, industrious and busy acquiring the basic skills so essential to future achievements. The Grade Three class acquitted themselves so well at the Music Festival that they were invited to perform at the Festival Highlights Concert at the University Centre. The Grade Four class have pursued their athletic goals with passion.

Personally, this has been a special year, as I have monitored the growth of this Grade Five class from the time they hesitantly left their nests, trying out their wings for the first time as they joined me, all fledglings at S.M.U.S. It is with joy that I watch them spread their wings and fly onward to the next stage of their lives. Without doubt, they are an exceptionally talented grade and their gifts encompass all aspects of the academic, art, music and athletic spectrum. As long as they remember that both a spirit of cooperation and a tolerance of differences are as important as individual achievement, ultimately they will be an outstanding group as they move through school. I wish them all every success in their future endeavours.

After nine years of service to S.M.U.S., Pat Psaila is leaving. We wish Pat and her husband, Peter, safe and happy sailing voyages and trust that they will keep us informed of the many interesting trips that they have planned for their future.

In closing, I would like to thank all the Junior School staff for another great school year.

I and the Village

Once upon a time in the land of MOZ, there lived a happy farmer names Woz. He lived on an old country farm with his wife, Roz. They owned two prize-winning Cozs. (Cozs are similar to what we call cows.)

Every day, Woz and Roz would give the Cozs chores to do about the happy farm. One of the Cozs always happily did his chores and never complained. The other Coz never did his chores, complained all the time and goofed off watching T.V. Woz and Roz always treated the lazy one just as good as the helpful one, but the lazy one didn't change.

Years passed, despite how much they gave to each Coz, the lazy one just became meaner and more selfish. Woz and Roz put so much work, time and money, that the happy farm became a sad, run down farm. Woz and Roz were now poor. All they had left were their gold, silver, diamond-studded wedding rings envied all through MOZ. They decided to sell them to buy food for Woz, Roz and the Cozs. They placed their beautiful wedding rings in a box on the night side table. In the night, the rings were stolen. Woz and Roz ran to the barn, frightened for their Cozs, to find the bad Coz had stolen the rings and flew to Boz. (Boz is similar to the Bahamas.)

THE MORAL OF THE STORY IS: ONLY
GIVE TO A GOOD COZ (CAUSE)

The Opened Box

I at last opened the box and found a stamp on a strip of bright red paper with a blue paper clip holding it together.

I think the stamp came from a famous ship that has been sunk.

I got the stamp because there was a little girl on the ship who sent a letter to her grandparents and in there was the shiny stamp, but she had put wrong address on so it came to me. This ship was really a cruise ship with wonderful exciting music and very good dancing which you could join in, there was a wonderful restaurant and whenever you're out on deck their servants would always serve you. Every afternoon they stop the ship for two hours and let everyone go for a swim, the ship was very exciting until there was a war in the country the cruise ship was sailing to. That country thought the ship was an enemy so they bombed them. That's where the stamp came from.

The Dark Sword      Liam Newton

Once upon a time there was a beautiful valley, full of nice people. Nobody ever hurt any living thing unless it was necessary.

However, there was one dark knight trained to wield the dark sword. Because of this the people despised him. Now up on a mountain nearby, there lived a big gas dragon with filth and grime all over him and gore dripping all about. He also had poisonous gas spewing from every pore and he reeked!

(This is a portion of a long story.)

THE LION by Euan McLean

When he is in the jungle,
It is dark all around,
While birds and snakes hide,
He stomps on the ground;
Every creature is full of terror,

THE EAGLE by Matthieu Boyd

The sun shone on his golden wings,
The eagle, lord of the wind,
His eyes shone masterful and bright,
With dignity he soared
All power and beauty,
Over a vast panorama of mountains;

He flew free,
The powerful beat of his wings
Kept time with the pulse of the gentle breeze,
His watchful gaze
Roved across the rugged landscape
His feathers glinted in the morning light.

From his hooked beak,
a shriek echoed,
And he alighted, stately as a king,
Upon an ancient oak,
He stood,
Erect as a sentinel,
That graceful bird,
lord of the wind.

THE RAY by Chris James

The ray circled about,
Under the pierhead,
Under the water,
Flying as a bird would,
With great, gray fins,
And streamlined, trim form.

His eyes,
Like gray, cold marbles,
Searched the seas
For possible prey.
The sparrowhawk
Of the underwater world,
He remains dominant.

Newspaper Report

YE TIMES

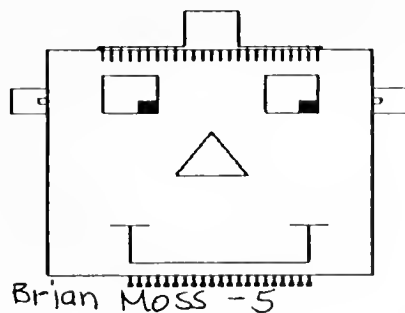

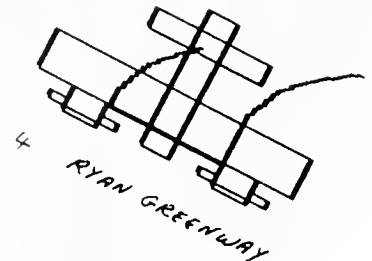

Camels Create Chaos in the Cariboo

We have been informed that the daft mule packer, Frank Laumeister, has had twenty-three Bactrian camels imported from Manchuria, China to Victoria, British Columbia. He bought these animals at three hundred dollars each to transport supplies to the Cariboo region. i.e. Barkerville, Richfield, Quesnel, etc. Mr. Laumeister says that camels can carry more than mules, travel faster and farther, go for days without water, eat plants along the trail, and therefore cost little to feed and best of all, be used to the cold Cariboo climate.

However, the camels are beginning to have problems. "Mules can't stand the [unusual smell of] camels, an' they go crazy when they smell it," says Thomas Lander, mule packer, "I've lost ten crazy [mules] since those camels [have] been brought in an' I'm [going to] sue that Laumeister if I lose any more."

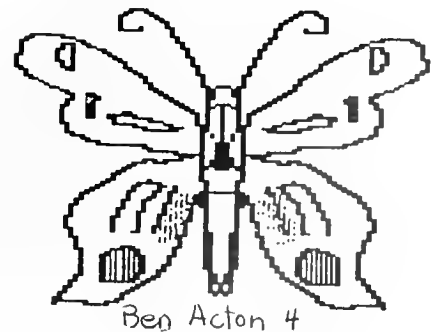

The camels are also having problems with the camel packers themselves. The camels will eat anything, from a bar of soap to the end of your nose, and turned out to be more stubborn than mules. Also, camels are not able to carry as much as thought, nor travel as far. Furthermore, the stony ground hurts their soft feet, and expensive canvas boots must be made for them. The camels would not survive if set free, and would not be much use for farming. It appears Laumeister is having more problems than he anticipated.

Middle School Director's Foreword

With the quick passage of another school year, I look back at 1991-92 as one which contained an unusual degree of suspense and prospective change. The sale of our school was an on-again, off-again proposition for the first 5 months. When the agreement was finally cemented with the University of Victoria, everyone concerned breathed a sigh of relief in that we knew something of our destiny as a Middle School. The design of our new facilities added an element of participation and control over our future facilities. Visiting the new building site at Richmond Road and observing the construction process is exciting and reassuring.

I was delighted by the response we received from parents following our Prize Day and will include in this foreword the 10 guidelines from my speech which several people requested.

1. Character: Although many will receive well-deserved recognition this evening with labels such as 1st, 2nd, distinction, the best, the most, etc., I suggest that good character is more to be praised than outstanding talent. Most talents are to some degree, gifts. Good character by contrast is not given to us; we have to build it, through thought, choice, courage and determination. Try not to envy or attempt to discredit your fellow student who has gifts or talents but strive to make the most of what you have. Doing your best is more important than being the best!
2. Take Risks: It is better to fail in doing something than to succeed in doing nothing. To try at all is to risk failure but the greatest waste in life is created when a young person risks nothing, does nothing, has nothing and ultimately is nothing. In direct opposition to much of the current Year 2000 educational philosophy; risk and failure, competition and comparative evaluation are a part of life. You will face failure in some form in your lifetime, don't waste time and energy trying to cover it up or excuse it; learn from it! Wisdom comes more from learning than from studying. They are not one in the same. If you say you will, chances are you can. If you say you won't, nothing will be accomplished. If you say you can't, you condemn yourself to failure.
3. A Touch of Humility is a good thing: don't ever be afraid to admit that you were wrong. It's like saying that you are wiser today than you were yesterday. The same is true of saying you are sorry. If the words are genuine, it takes a stronger person to apologize than to hold a grudge.
4. Approach life with enthusiasm: Complacency has never produced successful outcomes. Be fully involved in your education and take advantage of every opportunity to improve yourself. You can inspire those around you to strive for achievement because your best friend will be the one who brings out the best in you. Choose your friends wisely but do not strive to change or improve anyone but yourself. You can be a positive role model but you can't do the job for others.
5. Develop a sense of humour: Life will never be perfect but laughter will get you through many rough spots. You must learn to laugh at yourself; you will make mistakes as we all do, but it is how we handle the aftermath that counts.
6. Be Optimistic: The future is coming and only you can decide where it's going to take you. The only person holding you back is you so expect the best of yourself and others. If you believe that you're going nowhere and you don't do anything about it, you'll get there quickly. Determine to make the very best of every opportunity presented to you to better yourself.
7. Have Conviction: Know what you stand for, make a firm decision and stick by it. When under pressure to make a decision, say "no". After you've said "yes" to something what you are unsure about it's too late. Many problems which young people are struggling with are a direct result of saying "yes" too quickly and not saying "no" soon enough. After careful consideration you can change a "no" to a "yes" but the reverse is much more difficult.
8. The best discipline comes from within: This applies in particular to the Grade VIII's who are moving to the Senior Campus and I know that they relish the prospect of more freedom, but I remind them that with freedom comes responsibility. Discipline yourself; if you don't, someone will have to impose restrictions on you. You don't win by escaping detection but rather by proving that you don't require constant surveillance and supervision. This does not imply that you do only what you are told; be a self-starter and instigate positive happenings.
9. Be courageous: Courage is what it takes to stand up and be counted; it is also what it takes to sit down and listen. You should do your fair share of both. Unless you strive to learn something beyond what you have already mastered, you cannot grow. Set your goals just slightly out of reach but never out of sight.
10. Remove the phrase T.G.I.F. from your vocabulary: You have a better chance of success if you look forward to Monday rather than Friday. I too have been guilty of using this phrase but I would love to hear young people and adults proclaim: T.G.I.M. -Thank God It's Monday - I am eager to work, to learn, to be challenged, to discover. Not much of equal value or excitement happens on our highly-prized weekends. We need them but they should not become our sole, "raison d'être."

As a footnote to the students, I add: "if you are doing your best with what you have, you are succeeding now and you will continue to do so in the future."

Although these suggestions were addressed to the students, I would proffer the thought that they apply equally to adults. Young people can function best in an environment where we all, "Practice What We Preach!"

I wish every Grade VIII student the utmost of success in all future endeavours. Those of us who remain at Middle School will be following in your footsteps in December.

After months of preparation, the SMU Under 13 soccer team met at Victoria International Airport at 6:00 am on Sunday, October 20 to set-off for Appleby College, in Oakville Ontario, and the Canadian Independent Schools Tournament.

Accompanied by coaches Pollock and Jones as well as their personal orthopaedic surgeon-cum-bus driver, Dr. Michael Stranger, the team spent their first two days in the Toronto area touring the Ontario Science Center, the CN Tower, Niagara Falls, Queenstown Heights area, and the McMichael Canadian Art Gallery.

The tour was not without its exciting moments both on and off the field. Encounters with R.C.M.P. officers "bomb" for any adventure they might meet on the field, and after exhibition wins against St. Andrews (5-2) and Halifax Grammar School (2-0) they were ready for the tournament to begin.

The weather was glorious and the leaves were at their peak of color at Appleby's beautiful campus on the shores of Lake Ontario. Opening round results of a 1-1 draw to Ridley College, a 1-0 victory over Selwyn House School from Montreal, and a 1-3 defeat to Hillfield-Strathallen of Hamilton, Ontario unfortunately put the St. Michaels boys into the consolation round, where, after four consecutive victories, and the loss of team captain, Edward Fairhurst, to illness, the boys defeated Ashbury College of Ottawa 1-0 in the final on a goal by Daniel Rodriguez and captured the Ridley College Centennial Trophy.

All in all, it was magnificent season and concluded with the SMU Under 13 team winning the VISAA championship in a close 3-2 game against St. Patrick's. Although it was a great team effort, the individual achievements of Edward Fairhurst, Daniel Rodriguez, Mike Danskin, and our goaltender, Keir Wilmut, must be applauded. The 1992 tournament at St. Johns - Kilmarnock, in Guelph, Ontario will see six of our players returning.

There are actually two seasons for cross-country at the Middle School - one in the fall for the grade six and seven runners and another after the Christmas break for the grade eights. Both seasons proved to be very successful for the runners with a very strong showing by all three grades. There were some brilliant individual performances throughout the seasons but what was so exciting was the high number of participants. Through rain, snow, sleet and yes even hail, our athletes would thud through the trails giving it everything they had in order to cross the often elusive finish line. Special thanks to all those who participated and to Mr. Manson-Blair for his neverending support.

The Middle School was fortunate to have a very strong swim team this year thanks in part to some excellent coaching by two of our parents - Richard Wey and Sue McTaggart. Many early mornings were spent at the Crystal Pool splashing away trying to get the swimmers in shape for the upcoming season. The time and effort certainly paid off as our swimmers performed brilliantly and produced some outstanding results. Thanks to all those who braved the early mornings (parents included). We look forward to next years' season.

Grade Eight Basketball Team Aurora: The ultimate combination of beauty and skill, this team was undefeated in the city in league play, losing by a very small margin in the championship match.

Grade Eight Team Borealis: We came. We saw. We won a few and lost a few. It was great learning experience for all the girls.

What a tremendous track season at the Middle School! Lots of enthusiastic athletes ready and raring to tear up the track. Once again there were some outstanding individual performances but it always comes back to the team concept. The team had excellent results at the All-Schools relays, City Championships, VISAA and ISA meets culminating in a very long but successful trip to the Islands in Comox. Thanks to all those athletes who participated in the track program this year, you did an outstanding job.

Badminton 1991/1992

The Spring Badminton season was, perhaps the most successful ever at Middle School. Over sixty students from grades 6-8 participated at both the recreational and competitive levels and many of our grade 8 players are looking forward to continue playing under tutelage of Mr. Gardiner at the Senior School.

In particular, there were some noteworthy individual and team accomplishments. Joanna Holdsworth won the City Midget Championship for the second year in a row and teamed with Philip Miller to win the mixed doubles title. Chris Streeter triumphed in the boys singles final and Jordan Thome (Gr. 6) in partnership with James Pollock (Gr. 7) defeated all Gr. 8 competition in the city to win the boys doubles crown. Finally, Zareen Charania and Elizabeth Clough won the girls doubles championship to give SMU a clean sweep and, for the second year running, the City Championship.

In VISAA play, our Grade 6 and 7 team again finished their season on top of the hill winning eight out of ten final events. Emily Clough and James Pollock stood out winning both Singles and Doubles "A" events.

Team coach Mr. Floyd was most impressed with the effort and participation of Grade 6 students and looks forward enthusiastically to next year.

Stairways with no ends

Stairways with no top or bottom,
No way out, no way to stop.
Endless flights of stairs,
Merely tiring you out.
You don't remember when you started,
And you don't know when you'll end.
Stairs not white, nor black,
Nor any other color.
The only things left
When the stairway ends
Are your footprints and your thoughts.

It is so tempting and looks so scrumptious . . .
But it is too high to reach

The Forest In Summer And Winter

Into the forest a path leads,
Over a gurgling creek where trout dart
among the rocks,
And still, farther in, birds chirp their merry
song in the branches above,
While down amongst the ferns wild
cottontails jump and play,
In winter all is different,
The birds are far away in their tropical paradise,
The cottontails are sleeping in their burrows deep beneath the glistening white snow,
The creek is no longer bubbling,
But is frozen crystal clear,
The snow covered forest is enveloped in a thoughtful silence,
A silence that brings us peace deep down inside.

THE GAME

In this game you earn pride and glory
but the game is very gory.
In the game people cry,
in the game people die.
You can see it crystal clear,
all you have to do is walk through here.
Because this game is like no other,
you could kill your only brother.
This game is very real,
see the people standing here.
Because this game is so violent and bloody,
people laugh and say it's funny.
No one thinks of it unless it's too late,
but this game can cause your fate.
This game is very serious,
just hear at the people who are delirious.
This game is not funny or fun,
but this game is always done.
In the game there is lots of gore,
but we do it because it is war.

What's the World Coming To?

What's the world coming to?
In 1492 Columbus sailed the ocean blue,
he found the new land,
everyone gave him a hand,
the whole land was hyped,
that took a lot of might,
did we give the new land a curse?
can it get any worse?
look now at 1992
check out the world, eww!
We've got guns and knives,
the weapons now can take all the lives,
right now we need lots of peace,
because we're on a lease,
even now great death looms,
really really soon this whole place will go Kaboom!
Are we already too late,
to change our destructive fate,
What's the world coming to?

The Sensation Test

The small ovation that hid cool, clear mint underneath a coating of chocolate was like a solid branch to tastebud tingling.

One bite of this slice-of-orange wannabe was like getting up early on a Monday morning with a bucket of water. It was an eye-shutting experience.

The accidental smushing of the Jell-o would be like the placing of one's hands into creamy, soft butter.

The sour gummy was sort of like peanut butter - it stuck to the teeth.

The Balance Beam

As the knives hang poised above me
I wonder what would make them fall.
A word, a joke, a secret, a touch, a mistake?

I try to escape; for they come slowly closer and closer,
It is hard to move as I usually do since they will rub
Against me,
And cause damage.

Do I want to escape?
I asked for this,
I brought it on myself,
Is it their fault, or mine?

The knives are swinging,
Their invisible ropes quivering,
How long will this last?
For how long am I safe?

The agony of waiting weighs heavy,
Could it possible be as awful as I imagine?
I cannot stand this much longer.
"My head hurts, my heartache, half a world away,"
I am tired,
Of this, of everything.

Alex Janse.

The Jobless Man

The man's clothes were ragged,
As he stood there, and then a dog's tail
wagged.

He cried,
Because he had lied.
And now he was a thing of the past.

A car drove by,
And he tried,
Without a hope,
To catch a ride.
He was now a thing of the past.

He continued walking,
And started talking,
To the dog.
To the eye he was shocking,
Walking by in his rags.
He was now a thing of the past.

The dog barked,
The car parked,
He stopped,
And shouted, "My life is a lark!"
He jumped into the road,
Cars swerved,
And he died.
He was now a thing of the past.

Curran Crawford.

A 4x4 grid of 16 black and white line drawings. Each drawing is contained within a square frame with a decorative border. The subjects are: Row 1: A bird on a branch, a basket of fruit, a fish, and a basket of fruit. Row 2: A smiling sun, a fish, a rooster, and a smiling sun. Row 3: A basket of fruit, a rooster, a basket of fruit, and a bird on a branch. Row 4: A bird on a branch, a basket of fruit, a fish, and a basket of fruit.

Fearful horizons,
Worrisome skies.
Tearful misgivings
Burning your eyes.
Dreams unanswered
Reckon the wage
You'd pay to recapture
The innocent age.

A black and white line drawing of a vase containing a bouquet of various flowers. The vase is a simple, rounded shape with a narrow neck. Inside the vase, several stems are visible, some with long, narrow leaves. The bouquet includes a large, dark, multi-petaled flower at the top left, a smaller daisy-like flower with a dark center and many small petals at the top center, and a large, dark, spiky flower at the top right. There are also several lilies with long, pointed petals and prominent stamens. Small clusters of berries or small flowers hang from the stems. The drawing is done in a simple, sketchy style with bold lines.

MIDDLE SCHOOL MUSIC PROGRAMME

Christmas Concert - This was once again held in the Middle School Gym and featured approximately 170 string, band, orchestra and choral students. An audience of over 500 people enjoyed a programme of relaxing music as we entered the Christmas season.

Christmas Carol service was held in the SMU School chapel officiated by our Chaplain the Rev. Lynford Smith. Following the solo by Amyrose McCue, the candle light procession was led by the Middle School Choir singing "Once in Royal David's City".

Choir - The Middle School Choirs participated at various venues this year. In addition to the much larger choirs which sang at the Christmas Concert, Carol Service and Prize Day, students performed at Berwick House, Somerset House, Queen Alexandra Hospital, and not forgetting our annual pilgrimage to the kindergarten with Santa last December.

Orchestra - 85 students were selected to play in the Middle School orchestra during Term I and performed "Overture Rosse" magnificently at the Christmas Concert. During third term the orchestra once again came together to prepare for Prize Day when it performed, in addition to the traditional repertoire, the "Yorkshire Ballad".

Honour Band - 50 selected cross grade students met as an extra curricular ensemble and represented SMU Middle School at "Bandfest" at the University of Victoria, the Greater Victoria Music Festival, where the band scored an "Excellent" rating, and together with the Stage Band, performed at the Opening Day Ceremonies of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club in this its Centennial year.

Stage Band - 22 students met faithfully 3 times a week at 7:45 am and performed at venues such as the Christmas Concert, morning assemblies, Junior School, the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, Wayside House and Parkwood Care Centre. Thanks to the many parents who conscientiously drove their children to school so early each morning - especially those from Sidney and the Peninsula.

Theatre outings - Many students took advantage of visits to both the MacPherson and Royal Theatres this year to see productions of "Cosi Fan Tutte", "Fiddler on the Roof", "Die Fledermaus" and "Jesus Christ Superstar".

Morning Assemblies - Our thanks to the Reverend Lynford Smith for officiating each Tuesday at our morning assembly and to the string, wind ensembles and soloists who performed. J.S. Reid

Strings - The string ensembles from Grades 6, 7, and 8 performed several times each term this year. The Remembrance Day Service in November was led, musically, by the Honour Strings Orchestra. A movement of a Vivaldi Concerto, anthems and hymns were played.

On two occasions students were given a chance to attend a symphony concert at the Royal Theatre which featured a string soloist with the Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

In Term II the string ensembles prepared music that was eventually presented to the Victoria Music Festival in May. All string classers played individually and a highlight was the performance of an Allegro movement from Mozart's Symphony #6. This piece called for strings and french horns and oboes. A first for Middle School!

The music teacher at Middle School looks forward to hearing all the grads from this programme continue in their musical studies on the Richmond Road Campus, and is proud of the achievements of the young musicians still with us who so confidently carry on in the footsteps of those who have come before.

St. Michaels University Middle School's Leadership Group 1991-1992

Over forty grade eight students participated in the Leadership group this year. The aim of the group was to meet for a lunch hour once a week to discuss the school's values and expectations and to also design prefect duties. The Leadership group participated in a number of community services such as caroling at Berwick house, the SMU Junior school's Kindergarten class, and the Queen Alexandra Hospital. Peer counselling was introduced to the Leadership group by Mrs. Ives, our school counsellor, in the second term, starting with grade eights on drugs and alcohol. After two successful sessions, the peer counsellors decided to meet with the grade sevens concerning peer relations. This was also a great success. What the Leadership group hoped to and did achieve was a good example for a cooperative learning environment.

"They had the dialect and different skill, catching all passions in their craft of will."
(Apologies to the Bard)

Over the period of the first and second terms, the SMU Middle School Debating Club met nearly every Wednesday. The debates covered a whole range of topics, laughs and we learned things too. It was a good way to meet people, and improve our debating skills as well. One of the things I liked best was the spontaneity of debates. We would hear the topic, choose a side and begin! The club helped its members to become aware of some issues by discussing them and arguing over who was right. Overall the debating club was a fun and worthwhile activity.

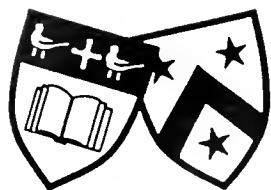

P. Frisby

Edward De Bono writes:

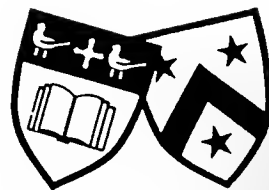

"Adopt the pose of a thinker. Go through the motions. Have the intention and make it manifest to yourself and those around. Quite soon your brain will follow the role you are playing. Quite soon your brain will follow the role you are playing. If you playact being thinker you will soon become one."

This was the first year a debating club has met on a regular basis in Middle School. It was fun. The emphasis was on participation, not competition. In time the club may become a valuable extension to classroom activities and encourage not just debate for its own sake, but an opportunity for students to develop effective critical thinking skills.

This has been a very busy and satisfying year for the MATH Contestants especially those in Grade 8. At the start of the year the Grade 8 team won the Vancouver Island section of the NATIONAL Mathcounts Competition. In the next round, held in Vancouver we had to settle for 2nd place. Ben White, Ben Young, Steven Lobb and Beth Smith did an outstanding job.

In the winter term, in conjunction with the grade 9 team we were 1st in Victoria and 5th in B.C. in the PASCAL contest. Ben Young and Zareen Charania made the Canadian Honour Roll while Steven Lobb and Chelsea Jones made the B.C. Honour Roll. Congratulations on this outstanding achievement. In the ATLANTIC-PACIFIC Competition the Grade 8/9 team ended up 3rd in Canada out of 720 schools. A great result. In February the Grade 6, 7 and 8 teams participated in the CNML. the Grade 8's continued their strong performance and ended up in 2nd in B.C. and 6th in Canada out of 650 schools. Chelsea Jones, Alexandra Janse, Steven Lobb, Ben White, Ben Young and Andrew Dooner are to be congratulated.

The Grade 7 teams also did well finishing 2nd in B.C. and 8th in Canada out of 680 schools. Patrick Gill had top score with Anita Holtham, Keir Wilmut, Patrick Frisby, Jessica White, Colleen Saffrey and Simon Grant all doing well producing a team score of 170/200.

The Grade 6's in their first year of competition are to be congratulated also with a 6th position in B.C. out of 720 Canadian schools.

The final contest is the all important 'Gauss' where we have a very proud record. The Grade 8's totalled 700 out of a possible 750 finishing 1st overall with Ben White and Emil Burdett tying 1st in Victoria with 1 mistake 145/150. The Team(s) will receive gold medals on Speech Night. The Grade 7's were seventh.

Well done everyone!

Yearbook Staff

The Yearbook staff have worked diligently and enthusiastically throughout the last two terms of the school year. They became very proficient in producing lay-out sheets, sorting and cropping photos, preparing pages for typing etc. It was a pleasure to work with such a pleasant and dedicated group of students. In particular, I would like to thank Caroline Rueckert, Ian Wong and Jack Wong for giving up time during the holidays to complete our section of this yearbook. The biggest bouquet of course must go to Connie Booth, our secretary, who typed out the final copies. Thank you so much, Connie!

An Ode to the Grade 8 Class "AMAZING"

We as a staff of sage mentors
Have watched your talents grow
Through storm and strife and hopes and joy
Our love to you we show.

We're bidding you a fond farewell
Although we wish you'd stay
Quite honestly we are impressed
At all you do and say.

Amazing James who loves the girls
Mandela - fiery red
The fetal pigs who brought to Meg
Intestines 'round her head.

Journeys through the hallowed halls
With Shakespeare brought alive
Roxanne: "the wall" in true blue form
Ben White: a Fool so wise.

The hoop and ball were so well-placed
For Liz to slam-dunk-score!
Jo, Zeb and Carol'n - fearless three
Can hit that birdie sure!

A poet laureate: Ben Young
"Revenging all the nerds"
If you've a van that's plain and white
Add paint blue, red plus words.

Can we be sure that Old Mount Doug
Enjoyed the Easter eggs?
Can we all strive to run like Brad
"Take marks" and move those legs.

Will Tessa be a hippie true?
Steve Lobb a doctor fine?
"Will Power" came Shakespeare from the dead
An actor in Simon was found.

The strengths you have in arts and speech
Your talents in phys. ed.
Take pride, take heart, the next few years
Will make your eyes see red.

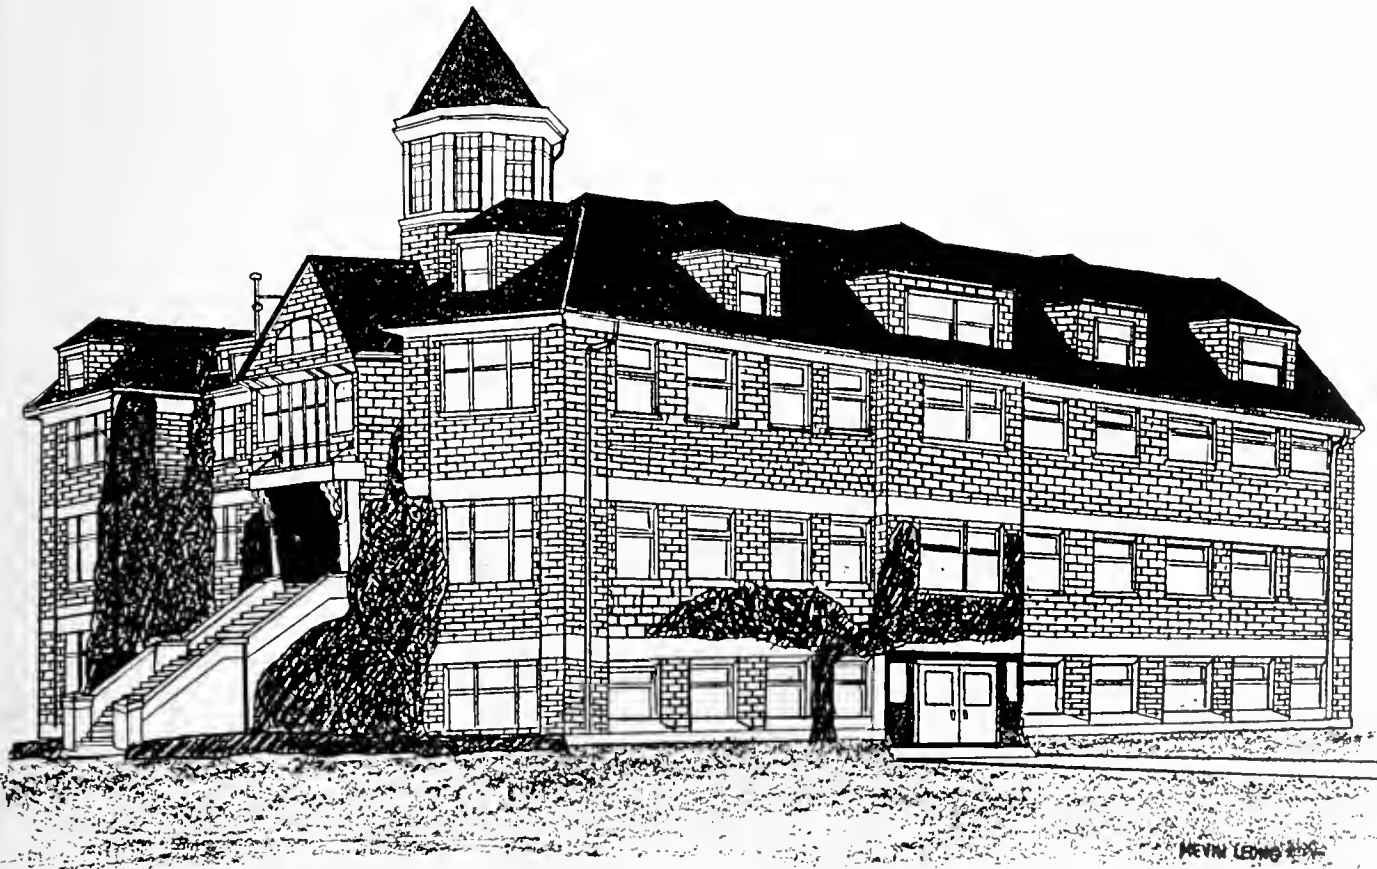

We recommend you take good care

Valedictory Address

Mr. Penaluna, Honoured Guests, Members of Staff, Parents and Fellow Students.

It feels like deja vu standing up here speaking to you as I can still vividly remember doing this when I graduated from the Junior School. Of course then, I wasn't nearly as nervous and I was only presenting a picnic basket to Mr. Penaluna - but times have changed and we're finally graduating for real.

This year has seen many changes take place on campus. At the outset, the six day cycle was invented to confuse the entire school for at least three months. Later, boarders were finally able to vacate their old ATCO homes (I'm sure with much reluctance) and move into the new residences. Wenman pavilion was transferred to its present position, while the new and better hockey and rugby pitches were created. But through all the turmoil, everyone pulled together and still managed to give a good account of themselves in a wide range of endeavours - on the sporting front with two provincial AAA championships, in a variety of academic competitions, in music, drama, art and debating.

The graduating class is a diverse group of students with energy and an incredible depth of talent. One thing that stands out for me is the tremendous spirit with which they participate in all the school has to offer.

Throughout the year, you have often heard of our many achievements. Today, I want to recognize the people whose never-ending support allow us to attain our goals. To our parents, who know us best and still put up with us, thank you for beginning the process of our education, for supporting our growth, for choosing SMU for our schooling, and for always being there for us. To the headmaster and members of staff - your enthusiasm and energy are the adrenaline that makes SMU tick. Thank you for giving so generously of your time and talents both in and out of the classroom. Your intellectual drive, real concern, patience, and keen sense of the ridiculous make learning fun. Your dedication had contributed much to our successes.

As Oliver Wendell Holmes said, "The main part of intellectual education is not the acquisition of facts but learning how to make facts live." The staff at SMU were able to do just that for us; their commitment gives us the freedom to move on -- the confidence to risk the next stage of the academic journey, and, if we persevere, the opportunity to put our talents to real use. On several occasions throughout the year, awards and prizes are given to those who stand out in their respective fields. Others, who are often not recognized publicly are students who generously give time to classmates with academic help, moral support, and loyal friendship. Long after prizes and awards fade from memory, we will remember those friends who did so much to hold our grade together. As we go our separate ways, I'd like to wish the grads the best of luck in whatever they choose to pursue.

Thank you.

Valedictory Address

Good morning ladies and gentlemen,

The people whom you see in front of you are seasoned veterans; We have survived through twelve years of hard labor commonly known as the education system. But we have made it through as a group. At SMU, the atmosphere has been perfect for making friends. The warm climate, greeny environment, and good-natured people have helped us to acquire the skill of "sharing and caring". It makes me wonder... wouldn't life be much easier if everyone learned this skill in the SMU environment? Just for providing such an atmosphere for the students, I believe that SMU has been a successful educational institution. Now it is up to us to return this favor by rising in the world to protect this benign environment of SMU.

Aside from personal skills, I believe that all of us are capable of success, in one way or another. If we can handle years of Outdoor Challenge Programs, Brown Hall, Monday morning assemblies, and monthly math cross-grades, we should be able to do anything. From here, most of us move on to universities to discover our potentials, while others are set on musical or athletic careers. But as everyone leaves to pursue their own dreams, hopefully nobody will forget the atmosphere of SMU; an academically and athletically demanding school with a knowledgeable staff; Where a student's week consists of homework overload during the week, partying Friday and Saturday, recuperating Sunday and catching up on the week's homework late Sunday night. I'm sure I'll miss this extremely efficient cycle.

In a few years, when we come back as old alumni of the school, hopefully we will see Mr. Faulkner and Commander Williams walking down the hall of School House again, a new performing arts center filled with talent, and a pool filled with water. But until then, this is it guys. Here's something I'm leaving you with:

This is not the end. It is not even the beginning of the end. But is is, perhaps, the end of the beginning.

Good luck to you all. And now ladies and gentlemen, may I present you the graduating class of 1992.

Deepa Abraham

Deepa, Meepa, Schmeepa, Weepa, joined us from the spruce capital of the world, Prince George, and proceeded to soar to the top of her geography class only to discover that physics was her true calling. Dr Abraham is heading to Barcelona this summer to represent Canada on the Olympic squash team. Her life's project will be conducted at the U of A in which she will create, through gene splitting, her ideal brown stallion with golden locks. She will be lost without her Joseph Campbell collection, toaster oven and mini bar. Thanks for the great times, Deepster, and just remember, STAY BROWN.

David Adams

Nobody knows why Tex joined us for another year of punishment after his brief sabbatical as a football star at Redlands. Certainly Ignatius and his new ski jacket found out all that Tex had learned in his year away during AP PE 12. As a boarder, Tex learned the value of friendship during his time rooming with Mike. Maybe that's where he gained some of his astounding intellect that dazzled us all, especially in AP History, when we weren't discussing the problems with the US and the Lone Star State. Outside of the classroom, Tex was always a good drinking buddy, gaining the reputation as a connoisseur during UK and Ireland 90 (HP!) On the playing field, Tex sought glory in the only real glory position, playing second row in rugby and becoming known as a Rambler. Tex will go from SMU to SMU next year, perhaps the only student to do so. He plans to major in Texas Pride, flunk out and become a cowboy, so as to make better use of all that free money. Have a great life, and remember that everything's bigger and better in .... TEXAS.

Bijan Ahmadi

After three years of slave labour at SMU, Daak realised his calling and desperately attempted to improve his marks for early admission to Waterloo. From his shaky beginnings to his fast-paced-study-forever lifestyle in Grade 12, his life went from a brainless shambles to a mind-filled shambles...and so as a reminder to all...Daak's last words...Dean lives!...

Jim Anderson

Jim is from Sidney, B.C. He has served on the dance committee but his real forte is in the athletic arena, for he has represented the school with great success in track, rugby and soccer. Furthermore, Jim is a fine hockey player and plays in the local organized hockey association. He has an ambition to enter business, and next year enrolls at Bishop's University in Lennoxville, Quebec.

Lisa Angus

"With imagination, I'll get there."

Lisa, aka Lisa Pisa & Fleur de Lise began her career at SMU in gr 6 & proceeded to collect many good friends & memories, like: EC mooing behind the piano, Mr Hairless, retarded jackets, Mr Speed, the Dr, the Intellectual & etymology & entomology w/ GAH (Is that a caterpillar on his lips?) This multit talented peer counselor, who just recently discovered her scientific function button, has been found w/ MM wandering completely lost on Mt Doug after walking DOWN the Summit Trail in the dark. Her various escapades cause some to wonder how she does so amazingly well in all her classes (Chem!) Pisa has also proved herself to be a track star & field hockey goalie of some note, but she's off to the Grand Canyon w/ MG, not Bermuda. Feeling that everybody should be as happy as they are, Lise & Marcus decided to try their hand at matchmaking for NS & RVR ("You are such a wimp.") & JB & her men. Lisa can be found trying to scale strange objects w/ MG and JW. In the future, Lisa will open a card shop w/ NS, get her driver's license, climb w/ MG or more likely, go to university to study languages. Wherever life takes her, she'll undoubtedly win her share of glittering prizes at cocktail parties. Good luck, Lise, we'll miss you!

Gerald Ashton

Gerald Ashton, also known as "Copkiller" or "El Gigante" shall be remembered as a very big person. Fed on live animals as a small child, he came to SMU this year after his native town of Penoka (Alta) ran short of cows and buffalos to feed him. His biggest disappointment was being turned down for the olympic synchronized swimming team. His pet peeve is being mistaken for a mountain ranger. Gerald, a tremendous M. Python fan, is still trying to buy a license for his pet fish, Erik, and though he can't, he always looks on the bright side of life. As Gerald lumbers off into the future, he plans to buy the United States and sell it off piecemeal, and to own a nice, fast and hopefully European car. He shall be remembered for his famous quotes: "AAAAHHAAA! CHEM!!!!" and "Hey K-K-K-K-K-Kris, I'm c-c-coming to k-k-k-kill you."

Shanti Atkins

"Gdjhh", "Neg deal", "Her nose is out of hand"

Shanti, aka Chutnie, Jean-G, Shon-Shee, Thayonee, arrived at SMU in gr.6 & worked her way to the top. Our Head Girl has demonstrated her singular scholastic ability with sophistication & her chainsawing technique with class. Chutnie qualified 5th for the World Debating Championships held in London & she went to Bermuda with the field hockey team. Her worst memory is easily - THE BIN in combination with a pick axe & a forest. Her best memories could be her many endeavours with TW to achieve the ultimate level of suave. For example french onion soup & "Go Phantom - Go Phantom". Shanti has learned that Greek make-up tips in French are not helpful, & her calling in life is NOT Physics - as it was demonstrated by orange ski boots & hair blowers. G.F. has warned us of the dangers of chicken McNuggets & taught us the art of ratiocination. Chut knows that this does NOT attract the NOBLE GENTLEMAN (MO), nor does it fend off KCIN. Shanti's self-torturous experiences (CM,PR,TP) have initiated & clarified her QUEST: 1)To avoid the stereotypical & overabundant cheesemonger, 2)To discover the higher intelligence truly worthy of her, 3)"Have you forgotten your angel?" Shanti, be good to yourself, 'cause nobody else has the power to make you happy!!!

Gillian Baddeley

Well Baddeley's little nickname, I guess, could simply be "HB" Greg will best know what that means! She's been in love with this guy since coming to SMU in grade 8 and finally started going out with him in March '89. OK, she doesn't "do" sports, but she's really good at art and hopes to go to Emily Carr College or UVic, but we'll probably see her at Camo. She lives by the saying "Strawberry Hills forever", and only realized it was fields a few days ago - which tells you how special she really is. We'll miss her.

Kari Badwi

"I'm just helping Linz with her homework, ma'am.", "Wanna come out & play?", "Too many hearts have been broken failing to trust what they feel" - Unknown, "Even a fool can have his day." - Tracy Chapman.

Kari hit SMU with a blast & it was love at first sight in the beginning eleven days (LC). The first term was spent in the very humble abode of Harvey House where she didn't take kindly to the bugs or bedtimes, but beauty pageants were definitely on (right LM?) She settled in quickly with the "Grub Club" & was the first female member. Kari also explored the surrounding area of SMU, including some of the closer Gulf Islands, where she found big bunnies. In boarder choir, Kari showed off the incredible lung power she had acquired on various surprise weekends! She also displayed her prowess on the grad ski trip. We'll remember those wipeouts! Well known for her incredible hair - she's hard to miss, and no, she and Hemsa are NOT sisters! Kari has also had a knack for travelling the expanses of Mr Johnson's class but doesn't yet know where she's headed next year. Wherever she be, she'll be having fun!!

Brendan Barry

Brendan came to SMU halfway through Gr 4. He immediately began receiving a number of compliments on his right ear which earned him the nickname of Radar. Bub started rugby at the Junior School & was a member of the Warriors 1st XV. Brendan has many memories from SMU of which there are too many to mention. However he will always remember Alphonse at TP's summer BBQ, being known as BJ (Brendan John, of course) by LS in Gr 9, locking lips w/ TB in Gr 8 via KH, Disco King '91 (encouraging the use of his name Cheezy B), the ski-trip in Gr 9, Michelle the goalie from Hell & reeling in the females at TH's party "Gone Fishing". On the serious side of his career at SMU, Brendan has played b-ball & was named to the 1st All Star team at the Emerald Tournament '92. He travelled with the Blue Devils to Tucson at X-mas '91. Brendan will have travelled to the UK twice by grad & hopes that the second time will be as memorable as the first (Dublin with LC). Next year Brendan will travel back to the UK to do one year of school before going to university in Canada (wherever will take him). Brendan's favourite line is "Show me how they kiss in the movies."

Chris Beeston

Chris (Stein, Chia Pet) came to SMU in Grade 4 arriving in the Beast and after nine years, he leaves driving the Beast. Chris was on the Student Council for two years but then people realized that he did nothing and was defeated by SL in the next two elections. Chris played 2nd XV Rugby, ran Cross Country and was a school prefect. Chris will always be remembered as the Day Student who lived at the dorms and next year he will be found at a Boarding School in England because he is this year's ESU scholar. Chris will remember all his friends and good times at SMU ie UK tour, Mexico Trip. Chris' future plans are to attend Queen's University and then see what happens.

Ann Behennah

"Per Ardu ad Astra" Ann has been at SMU since Gr 7. In this time, she has accomplished much. We have seen her glasses go from bright red plastic to bright red metal. She has knocked over many goalies in grass hockey while scoring. She has honked and squeaked her way into orchestra and pit band for Pirates of Penzance with her clarinet. She's known as an Imperialist in debating circles. This is probably because she has represented Great Britain at Commonwealth Conferences for four years. Ann spends many spares with LB, SC and EK, discussing men with gorgeous hair, praising the jazz of Thelonious Monk and trying to convince SC that Seurat did not create surrealism. It was Van Gogh. Ann is famous for her trench coat, Poison perfume and red lipstick. Her sense of style is, well, stylish. She spends many Thursday night with SC and LB watching bizarre movies such as Naked Lunch. Next year, Ann will be found at UVic (probably drinking coffee in the SUB) and pursuing Poli. Sci. and then after that, she will enter law. So long and don't stop until you reach the stars.

Jane Bowers

Jane came to SMU in Gr 10 as a Hawaiian surfer chick, & soon collected many memories. Robertson II, pictures of Dave, Tuesday afternoons, Tim G, Mr Pietie's sailing & tipping, biking, Vogue, "But I don't know you guys", early morning phone calls, French dialogues & oral points, Hawaii - finally, Andrew S, depression sessions with Jason W & Naomi S, Chem labs 11 with Bek C "the burette broke!", the guess girls, the stoned angel, long weekend horror story, SCN-, "As you wish", summer movies, detours, going round & round, Jane's Addiction, sheep farms & Quaker churches, the mutton, the chicken & the cane, Beep-Beep, whoa yeah, blockbusters for 1 1/2 hours, SCN- again, English Lit essays, Chem sheet Saturdays, HOOCCOO-, "There he is", basketball, Chem labs 12 with Bek again, "the burette broke, again!". Aloha & Hang loose, babe, we wish you all the best.

Leah Bowers

Well, holy Smokes, Leah's career at SMU is drawing to a close. She has seen it all, beginning with-grade 6 at the Junior School. Leah is an avid soccer player. Some of us believe she has developed this skill to attract the attention of sexy men in short shorts. Leah spends many spares in Brown Hall with AB, drinking Red Energy Drink and discussing certain Spanish gentlemen. She is often seen cruising in her red Volkswagen Rabbit, sunglasses on and Aerosmith pumping. Bio is perhaps her favorite subject if it wasn't for "women with purpose" always putting their large butts in the way. Next year, Leah may be found at UBC, living on a diet of bagels and tofu and pursuing science. Good luck to her, wherever she goes.

Monty Bridgman

Through my nine years at SMU I have had many great memories. A few come to mind quickly: Mr Bousfield's Class, Hawaii trip, Mr Cordle, Mr Birch and Mr Williams; the West Coast Trail and Spirit of Chemainus trips and, of course, how could I forget Robert Fulghum. Some bad memories also come to mind like: Tako Time, The Puddle, Sardis, Spanish Class, Mr Hillis' gym class show. My pet peeves are few but I deserve them. Some things that really get to me are: the Middle School, Grade 9's, Chief Zog, and environmentalists. I was kept busy by trying to play soccer and rugby, learning to play pool, singing in the choir, and working for Mr Cordle. I have only two ambitions: To play side by side with Mark Knopfler of Dire Straits and to teach ESL at SMU.

Cari Burdett

Cari, aka Camel, Bigbird, Cari-Berry, Carebear, is 6' tall, weighs 130 lbs., waistsize 25", and shoe size of 10; she has blonde hair, blue eyes. Her hobbies include: acting, singing, dancing, basket weaving, and industrial cooking. She would like to play the harp. When Cari walks into a room, it's like those late, late Western shows on TV. She'll strut in, swing open the saloon doors and a steady hush will command the room. Spurs klinking, she'll stroll over to the bar, put on her bib and get an orange juice and sodawater mixed. Engaged in continuous conversation with the new faces in the county, she'll forget the time. So she'll perhaps call Natalie ('member that girl from Regina?) and get her to help her push the car into the driveway - don't want to wake Ali, the neighbors, Elliot (the dog) and oh mom. MOM! It's 3:30. Push Natalie, Hurry! OH wait - Lookout! Lookout for the station wagon! Cari's earlier experiences with B&W Investigations include getting caught at 4 am in the bushes with burrs in her feet waiting for Dammers & Pete! Once the fish have all died and the rain stops pouring we'll find Cari on Broadway (playing the sperm in Woody Allen's "Everything You Wanted to Know About Sex").

Joshua Burke

Aka Shua (pronounced Shoe-wah), Joshua's ambition is to win the middleweight championship of the world and to get married. He will always remember the night at Yin Jins Chinese Restaurant with Karim & Co.

Peter Cacos

This bearded wonder was first sighted around campus back in grade 8. He quickly adjusted to SMU's pace socially, academically, and athletically through rugby and soccer. Grade 10 (Bilbo or Bilbs) had memorable times on the U.K. Rugby Tour. Unfortunately Chris M. and Brendan B. experienced the wrath of the Greek Ninja. Hope the "faps" to the head didn't hurt guys. In grade 11, serious knee and shoulder injuries barred the Greek from sports but he, B.D., M.P., L.C., B.S., C.S., A.S. and his silver bullet wagon experienced some unique times! The silver bullet was replaced by Bilbo Jr. which is aquamarine blue, not green like A.S. green pickle VW. His European driving habits, his loud stereo, and teammates Alison D., Ryan G., and Mark P. blended together and moulded a first class car rally team. Pete won't forget anything or anyone from SMU. Even Dan K. in the mornings, with his unique fits of humour while driving to school. Well Bilbs here's to the weekends at Stein's and low budget videos, parties at Ed's and "tall, brown cool ones." We sympathize with you for Captain quick C.S. for getting n.m., for the insane driver A.S. who got nothing but as you and your close bud Charlotte J. said, "Life goes on." So Pete, as a final salute, remain close and good friend as always, don't share and good luck at UBC or McGill.

Leo Caffaro

Descending from a distinctly Italian family, Leo was sure to follow ALL of the 10 Commandments. Luckily, Catholics can go to confession. Leo came to SMU in Gr 10 from Edmonton. Despite being "soo skeeny," he was adopted by MP, AF, BD & Puke. Brown Hall helped the Caffer shed his boyish frame & is now known as BILLY. Before giving his heart to Kari, Leo enjoyed late night Tolmie gatherings w/JD & JD & strolls through the barnyard w/MF & T. What's-her-face? He was a boarding prefect, & w/MP, wreaked dictatorial havoc on International House, landing him as Head of House in his grad year. He has played 3 years of rugby, & is a veteran of the UK Tour. After wading through Dublin's Bull & Bear with BB, he made it to Wales, where he discovered the secret to understanding just what the hell Mr Samuels was saying during training sessions (ie. Aye, boy-ten star jumps!) During the off season he played w/the Castaways. Leo went to the Grand Canyon in '92 & Mexico in '91 but he still has to refer to photos to fill in the bits of his memory left behind. Between world travelling, he has still found time to make the occasional road trip to Saltspring or Sidney. Although Leo would like to attend the U of Acapulco w/ Bryce, it's likely that he'll find himself back at the U of A next fall.

Susan Campbell

"A view of Earth from space is a glimpse of divinity"

Having arrived in Gr 6 to successfully complete 7 years of SMU education, Susan has succeeded in academics, music, as well as in her favourite sport, soccer. However, as AB, LB & EK will testify, Susan has an amusing as well as frustrating ability to be misinterpreted. During a history class, Susan struck up an intense conversation of Communism, w/ the intention to convince those that socialism is based on utopian ideals. However, Mr Faulkner saw otherwise & turned Susan's desk upside down. It's been determined that the cause for Susan's bizarre going ons & statements is due to her daily dose of caffeine. Other conversations over Brown Hall coffee revive memories of Susan's generous ambition to deliver AB & LB safely to the dungeons of Hell, where they currently have two seats reserved. She cynically adds that the Red Carpet Coffee service (which serves SMU) will be available for their drinking pleasure. Susan's passions include the ritual of watching late night foreign films. Her nocturnal instincts will take her to higher climbs of existence, as she plans to study space & the universe at UVic.

John Cantlie

"Maybe so, but you're ugly & in the morning, I'll be sober." - Winston Churchill

In the interests of my inability to fully express the excitement and joy experienced this year, I will circumvent the emotion & examine the science. My thanks to you all. Your time, patience & insights have earned my greatest gratitude. Your learnings are the soul of all that has been created. The least of the gestures of an adult is the vastest of feats for a child. You have taught me more. The most insignificant words of a child are the very matrix of an adult's praise. Humanity cannot be the sole & foremost pinnacle of sentient life. Perhaps, then, sometime, somewhere, someone will say to me, in an encounter with the unknown: "Thou art a scholar, speak to it....."

Bryan Chan

Bryan, aka Chino, Super C, or just plain old Encyclopedia Chan, decided at the ripe old age of 7 that home life just wasn't adventurous enough, and under the intensive recruiting of Johnny S., came to SMU. After a few years under "The King" IHL in School house (yes, School house), Bryan moved over to Harvey House where he met Flop, Stretch(Bungy), and various other Harvey House Hoodlums. Grade 9 saw the Chinomeister cross the campus to T.C.'s Intersmashible "Heart-break" Hotel, and lived in the 309th St., and 201st St. garbage dumps with pet peevers E.C. and M.G. Major highlights would have to include afternoon double spares on the links with Stuky & Co., and the Rugby Tour to the U.K. in grade 10, where instantly he knew he would have a career in lighthouse housekeeping. Grade 11 saw Chino in the Porta-poddies, aka "The Spirit of Atco"; nevertheless, after a "character building" year, it was on to a rebuilt International house, and prefect duties. After 10 years in boarding, he's the closest thing to a lifer that we've got. Next year he'll probably go to a mental asylum or to Northwestern University in Chicago only to return and someday release his wrath on little kids as a housemaster.

Mandy Chan

MC arrived from Hong Kong in grade 10. She immediately became a cheerful face in the dorms. Mandy wasted her first year and a half as a superficial elder. "PICK YOUR NOSE!!" On commencing her grad year, Mand saw the light and has found SMU life to be much more enjoyable now with Milton. "Press pause for tonight but don't rewind". She'll always remember dancing in the car, a particular number 10, a honking limo, creamcheese and crackers, camping in the thick, and cordon-bleu. "Howz your pants?" She earned her name as a pool shark and to have seen every movie ever made at least once. MC and CM will be found working together in the future creating reliable lie detectors and breast enlarging processes. "Fat kids love pies" "If he really loved me..."

Steve Chang

"So what ? Nine is not on top of eight."

Steve, a.k.a. Salty, Stevie Wonder and Skinner No. 2, has been to several places before finally arriving at SMU in grade 10. Those who made SMU so special were the "Delay no more gang" and the "Girls!". Memories include weekends to chinatown, "where are we going?", afterschool to the arcade, late nights on SL's computer and hours on the phone with K.T. Where does Steve find the strength to do all that and help people with homework, play badminton, fulfill his prefect duty and complete school work? His secret is 8 cups of strong black coffee an hour. Steve's ambition is to succeed in all that he attempts, and to enjoy life.

Wilson Chee

"So What? "

Wilson Chee, aka water closet, whipped into SMU in Grade 10. This typical HK boy adapted to boarding life with minimal difficulty and made many friends quickly. Although upon meeting him, he may seem tired and drowsy from time to time, this night creature's bursts of energy are totally unpredictable. While maintaining an "A" average, he has tried many sports ranging from Rugby to Soccer! Not to mention his late obsession with tennis. Move over Boris Becker ! On top of that, he is part of the on going gang, Delay-No-More, which consists of his friends M.W., S.C., O.S., A.C., and S.L. His pleasant attitude in school may fool the teachers, but this party animal knows the ropes. (What was that speeding ticket about... What ticket!?) Next year, he hopes to go to UBC. You'll find this scoremaster wherever you find a group of at least 50 girls. Good luck, pal!

Sean Chen

"Ga Ni "

After being a prefect for two years, Sean, aka China Chin and Riceking, has learnt lots since his first year, Grade 9 in 1988.

He was an E.S.L. student for the first half of the year, but quickly picked up English from his E.S.L. teacher, Mrs. Paine. He didn't realize why everyone called him "Sean Chin". Perhaps his chin was sexier than Bruce Lee's. Sean tried every sport he could in Grade 9, but was on all the worst teams. Finally he chose TEAM BADMINTON in Grade 11 and managed to win the I.S.A. trophy from St. Georges. In Sean's final two years, Gulf Dorm Wars with roommate E.C. became frequent events. There were many pizza wars and shaving cream fights between them, which startled the universe and moved the gods. Sean became a most dreadful fighter, winning a number of impressive wars; hence the nickname "RiceKing". Moreover, RiceKing will always hold fond memories of his days at SMU.

Matthew Cheung

Matty was totally orgasmic about leaving Toronto to join S.G. in Physics at SMU. Although Matt has spent "negative time" at SMU, his many roles have included being a pirate, a cross-country and track runner, an orchestra violinist (although he has yet to show up), and tennis. Despite having definite problems with the approach shot and volley, Matt has shown an incredible skanky talent in tennis. We suspect Matt's many bladder problems are a result of his disturbing tendency of wearing his Monday underwear on Tuesday. In his eyes, if you're wicked, "you're a god", but if you're raunchy, "you're evil". This year, we discovered that Matt has no inhibitions whatsoever. ! Nosta conta dos ezuenta del fortie !

Valerie Cochrane

Valerie is from Squamish, B.C. She is a cheerful member of the boarding community and although she has not represented school teams it is because she has a great love of skiing, and has become a talented skier. The proximity of Whistler is probably responsible for Valerie having uncertain University plans at present!

Edward Crothall

Edward is from Seattle, Washington. He is a quiet yet determined enthusiast who always gives of his best. Edward is not a natural athlete but he has played 1st team rugby and basketball in a support role, and performed well for the cross country team. He is a strong scholar and a prefect in his residence. Next year, Edward will become an "Ivy leaguer" and enroll at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York.

Rebekah Curran

Rebekah is from Victoria. She is an able, conscientious and cooperative young lady who has a fine talent for music. Next year Rebekah will study sciences at UVic.

Jenny Daniel

Jenny (sometimes referred to as Daniel-san even though she knew no karate) came to SMU just in time to go to the gr 8 dance with JM. With this romance soon over with, she decided to stay single for a while, for it proved to give her more reason for early morning phone calls, especially Feb 3. In gr 11, she turned to French for comfort; it provided a way to score points safely, run cross-country & to answer French questions asked by a certain guy! Gr 12 interests were in basketball & in a certain player, then another player (maybe?) but finally decided that maybe basketball wasn't the best sport after all! Although a difficult girl to keep track of, she did come out of the sheep pasture when asked?? Her dream of attending UVic will be most probably fulfilled in September when she enters something along the lines of business so that she may learn how to run her own Cartel program.

Chris Darimont

Chris, affectionately known as Dari, came to SMU in Grade 4 and made his mark as a lady killer. He took part in rugby and went on the Grade 10 rugby tour to Britain. Chris will always remember mystery muffins in the moonlight, which he lost to a certain tennis ball head, and a hat-trick in girl's hockey. Chris loves mexican food and is an avid Portland Trailblazer fan. Chris' best moments came from rides in P.R.'s stanger with Nims, the invention of Dari style, lunchtime bombing with P.R. and his precious mini truck, being a zone leader for the kidney foundation and visiting TacoTime in his Mazda. Chris' hobbies include sleeping, partying, sleeping...sleeping.... and more sleeping, and will always keep his favorite Bud hat close to his heart or wings. Chris plans on going to Queens or UVic, but will probably end up at UVic studying real hard and doing homework.... YEAH RIGHT !Good luck Chris!

Alison De Macedo

Alison made the switch from public to private school in the middle of Gr 11 & came to SMU in search of the better life. She arrived in the shadow of her Christmas tutoring buds, Jamie & Steve, but it didn't darken her chances for making some great friends. Al leaves the school with many fond memories, especially ones such as the West Coast Trail when she "herbed" on the log. Let's just say she was grateful for not being a guy. She remembers with pride the winning streak of the three-women volleyball team. Linz, Reen & Al are presently training for the Olympics. A memorable grad experience for her was the wicked car rally team of MP, PC & her boyfriend, RG. Alison will be found studying Biology at UVic or UBC next year. We wish her good luck in the future.

Bryce Dearborn

Bryce came to SMU in Grade 7, a hick from Eaton, SK. (That's on the prairies!) "Cheezy B" has played rugby for 6 years and has achieved 1st XV status. He has travelled twice to Britain but found that Scottish girls just didn't do it for Canadian guys. He has also gone on 2 Mexico trips, the latter rewarding him with a refreshing spring shower with A.D.(flooding L.C. and M.P. out of house and home.) Bryce would have liked to tour Vietnam but found an entanglement with the V.C. at home yielded enough of a holiday for him. Tolmie has remained his stomping ground, where he has stayed loyal to the King, except when he strayed, subjecting him to the wrath of D.D. He was a conscientious member of the Garbage Removal Service along with B.S. He was also an active bottle recycler in the Bullpen and donated generous time to the M.S. Twin Peaks Foundation. In his grad year, he nearly set the record for spares, being quoted as saying, "Man, what's the point" and patented his famous homework elimination process. Unless the U of Aca has some openings, Bryce will probably venture east to Toronto to link up with legendary older brother Jed.

Tim Dummer

Every grad member has a special place in their heart for this fiery red-headed young man with the most nicknames. Not. To some Nim, others Nimmer or Timmer, Nimrod, King Ralph and Nimociety. No one will forget his many hairstyles nor his martial arts skills nor his great driving skills (Mario Andretti). Nims will never forget rides in the Mustang, the Sunday action movies or his massive multi-municipality party. Tim has a bright outlook for his future, but never wants to be a pilot because of his crash and burn record. But on the other hand, he does have some talent while on bombing missions at lunch with PR and CD. Tim's pet peeves include narrow school driveways and short tempers. Chicks just love the guy - as a friend! We wish you the best of luck, Tim, and by the way King Ralph - where did that bottle cap come from?

Angela Dunbar

Having covered several hundred kilometres by plane, Angela graced our (most humble) campus in the buddings of Gr 10. In a sea of adversity, Wedgie swam her way into all our hearts with her winning nicknames & radiant smile. Most notable of her traits include: swimming, art, sucking up, boasting & a strong dislike for white men with "afros" (Mexico). Angy bore well the horror of Atco in Gr 11, but wishes to thank Jen, Steph & PKT for their support. In Gr 12, Wangie scored the hottest man on campus, JOHN CANTLIE. Her roommate for the year seems to have fallen victim to demonic possession, but Vegie wishes to thank said CH for her insight & relentless compassion in her traumatic "nightly solitaire" ordeal. We wish you luck, Wedge, & hope you enjoy many years of wonderful stubbornness.

Jennifer Ellis

Jen, a die-hard sports fanatic from Naniamo, came to SMU in Gr 6. During her free time, Ni-fer is usually found doing one or more of her hundred and one sports. Her favourites include skiing, windsurfing, field hockey and tennis. Her adventures on the slopes are numerous, and some of the best ones include skiing down Soudain Couloir on the Grad Ski Trip, jumping off cliffs, and enticing innocent friends to ski down Powder face backwards. During the summer, she can most often be found checking out the sun, waves and wind in the Gorge or in Maui. Having played on the 1st XI field hockey team for 3 years, and leading it in her final year, hockey has taken Jen all over BC, to Great Britain and down to Bermuda where she was famous for initiating the trend of cornbraiding. Jen is known for eating vegie pizzas, Power Bars, and anything else that screams healthy at her. No one will ever let her forget the accidental (?) fire she set in the chem lab or the morning she had the school bus wait while she slept through her alarm before the UK Tour. By the way, contrary to popular belief, Jen has been heard singing in tune. Notorious for never for never doing anything until the night (or period) before, no one will ever know how she became school captain scholar.

Shereen Fard

Shereen, more commonly known as Reen (with many variations) entered SMU in Gr 10. After being gated and indulging in Super Prep for the whole of 3rd term in Gr 11, she emerged as a well respected prefect in Gr 12. Reener was known to be a star volleyball player as well as a soccer player. Rita loves School House where she receives top marks for her creativity. Her memorable experiences include those with the Heads, all of whom she will fondly remember; BMR strike again and may we last longer than the paint, her studious year spent in Tongue house with MC, LM, & MW, AC/DC, and our night long mission in the van. Reen has tested the strengths of the schools disciplinary system...and survived.

Adrian Field

Adrian came to St. Mikes before most people can remember. His first few years with BWD were relatively uneventful besides the fact that puberty hit. Much time was spent in Gr 10 gazing longfully at NA, but Adrian's fortune changed in the final moments of the year with SF, who played him for the remainder of his SMU career. Memories include philosophical discussions with SL late at night and also toy tanks. The road trip to Sidney one night in Gr 11 brought much hardship for the rest of the term, but Adrian still managed to drive and take a trip to the rock (in a Mrs. DRP), neither of which he got away with. Adrian still managed to end his years at SMU as a prefect. Adrian has no future plans, "skip it", He'll wing it.

Fraser Fletcher

Fraser is from Victoria and has had a long career at SMU punctuated by his one year sabbatical at a local school last year. He is captain of the tennis team and has also played soccer for the school. Fraser will be fondly remembered for his fine role as the sergeant in the "Pirates of Penzance". He is an active and keen member of the Canadian Armed Forces Communications Reserve. Next year, Fraser will be away touring with "Up With People" a national musical production which also involves itself with community service. Good luck, Fraser!

Margaret Fonger

"Who's Driving Tonight?"

Marg came to SMU in 1987 and enjoyed life at the Middle School. Finally she graduated to the Senior School where she was quickly sought out by a certain older TM. Knee problems in Gr 10 were 'eventful'. Gr 10 took Margret Monger to the UK to play hockey for the 1st XI. Gr 11 was an academically and athletically concentrated year (SN, CM). In Gr 12 Marg took interest in the Senior Boy's basketball and often visited with the Croatians. Margaret was one of the elite who travelled to Bermuda in Spring Break. She planned to SCORE goals galore! Next year, Margaret will likely take her many talents to UVic, McMaster, or Queens. The 1996 Olympics will likely include Marg's name for 100m sprints. Good luck Margie.

Sarah Frew

"Gross, no he doesn't."

Sarah came to SMU in Gr 10 from the booming metropolis of Nanaimo. Being associated with the infamous JM, Sarah soon latched herself a classy fellow in JC. She hung out with AD and TR and soon became the ring leader of the all too potent 'Frew Crew' (Love ya for it MG & EC). After being sent to Atco because of the great fire, Sarah enjoyed the company of R & R who treated her like royalty. Sarah enjoyed touring other countries especially Mexico. She will always be remembered for her strange relationship with MH and her 'pelican' like eating habits at Carlos & Charlie's. Sarah enjoyed the company of AF (something like 3rd time lucky?). Anyways, it always seemed that she had some good looking guy around (BD being at the top of the list, of course). A true Romeo and Juliet type saga. Sarah is hoping to go to university next year (whereabouts still unknown). Thanx BD!

Christiaan Fulton

"I wish I could man"- The Heads

Christiaan came to SMU in grade 10 with Paul, Sadique and Trevor. Between haircuts, his winning smile, amazing hearing, and sensitive attitude won him the hearts of CB, BP, SF, VC, SF. Although constantly haunted by the kiss of death, the big Mac went through some great times in his prolific SMUS career. He will always remember fighting for pizzas with the prefects, and teaching the Brown guy the ropes in grade 10, and those late nights watching Platoon before and after closely studying the toilet seat of 986 Royal Oak Dr. As well, in grade 11, and in grade 12, plotting ways to steal the goddess from Claven from his home in the infirm. The future holds a visit back to the Baker, big hair, and a tailor-made pair of leather pants furnished by the rest of the Heads. Christiaan plans to take time off of his busy schedule to take it easy, and reminisce about the trips.

Lauren Gainor

Lauren is an avid basketball player representing the senior girls team as well as gaining some experience as a coach. Lauren has played on school volleyball teams too. Next year, she heads south to the state of Utah to study for a degree in mathematics at Brigham Young University.

Lisa Garwood

I have been at SMU since gr 8. My years here were interesting, not at all what I expected. I have made unusual friends - Jo-Jo Beans, Pigs (CAC lives), Cats & a variety of other creatures. The sports were lots of fun. Field hockey (the Jr Islands & whipped cream), X-country (no more races ever!) & soccer (it's too bloody muddy for Sandie to play soccer!) but at least no more circuit & 2400. I still say I'm sane & you are all crazy so I really didn't deserve that nickname. I guess it's because you're jealous of my red hair (at least Pig is). Ice cream (B-R only please!), playing pool, going out for coffee. I'll miss you all. So long, and thanks for all the fish. P.S. I am the center of the universe!

Ryan Gillespie

Ryan came to SMU in Gr 7 from GNS. From the start, he was everybody's friend & fit right into life at SMU. Known as either Chunk or Spunk, Ryan lives up to both his nicknames with very chunky fingers & well ... you know. Anyways, Spunk enjoys waterskiing at Shawnigan Lake as well as playing rugby. Ryan has played on both regional & provincial teams & would have played nationals ... if they had a team. Spunk also had a great Tour in Gr 10 where he found the English women in Solihull were a lot better to him than the Scottish were to BD. Gr 11 was basically a blur to Ryan, (Thanks to the Milkman BS) until ADM came about halfway through the year. Oh, I guess there was that little tangle with an Amy What's-her-face at CM's but we won't mention that. But since then, it's been RG & ADM forever & will probably last a lot longer. The best of luck to you at university (after all the beauty English help from DP). Take it easy & good luck.

Simran Grewal

Sim made her stunning debut in Gr 9, although she arrived in Gr 8 from Hong Kong. Simmy has been an active participant in grass hockey and will be hitting the beaches in Bermuda this Spring. Simran Grewal is a well respected prefect who has distinguished herself as one of SMU's top scholars. But let's cut the crap... Simbo's personal phone has become a permanent fixture on her face. Favourite expresions include "good joke", "sheiz" & "what the hell...?". She'll always remember the attack of the raccoons, (or was it beavers, Sim?!) onthe Gr 11 sailing trip, saving bum from the wrath of stinging tennis balls and getting burned by Mr G. in Bio. She hopes to eventually be accepted to med. school (GOOD JOKE!) watch out Dr Ruth, here comes Simmy!

Mark Grist

"Behind every great fortune, there is a crime." -Balzac

Moose landed at SMU in gr 9, after a long career at THE ALL MALE INSTITUTION (aka St. George's.) He settled himself in International House, under the strict supervision of TC. There, he roomed w/ BC and EC for the next two years and learned about the ART of Hygiene. In school, Moose contributed to all fronts. He was a member of the Blue Devils B-Ball team, AR's rugby team, and of course, the beloved LK's X-Country and track teams. Moose was always a scholar, but still managed 12 hours of sleep per day! Then gr 11 came and the New Moose was born. He began the revolution with a confrontation w/ PKT over the Camosun incident. Subsequently, he was elected to the boards of Baileys & Co and Nescafe. However, he still managed to become a prefect in Harvey House by mid gr 11. Later in the year, Moose merged w/ LA. The merger proved to be one of the most successful in SMU history. Next year, Moose may grace the UBC campus with his presence. After that, he may embark on the journey to become an MD. With all that money, he can buy all the Rocky Mountains he wants and more. Hasta la Vista Moose!

Lydia Gubbels

"The soul takes flight to the world that is invisible and there arriving she is sure of bliss and forever dwells in Paradise."-Plato

Lydia arrived at the school 5 years ago and gradually began to twirl madly with the quest to remove the gummy smile. While serving the term, she gained many memories--Frau Nie Nie's German class, Stone Angel weekend, motor it!, grape bubblegum brownies, World Cup Soccer, endless phone talks on English essays, listening to Edward for weird occurrences - lose them, Peppi le Peu, Pilsbury, etc, Whistler with Beatles, Led Zeppelin, chilling, hot tubs, strange people - me?, groovy man, Valmont, "be velly, velly quiet", Nicholas, medieval England, thus far, compulsive hand washer, FUNKY, blue stamp wars - my teeth, Chem sheets!!!, Eng-man, formal dinners, hochawas, hello EVERYBODY/sweetie, can you speak in an English accent?, Nya Nya Nya, the dreaded foot, the baldness/beard craze - Ben, giving Perry Como to Bek, knights, being a Xmas tree, trumpet...It's been interesting! Here's to Marienplatz and the infamous European vacation to come! Later - Prost!

Kristian C. Gustafson

"It is not the critic who counts, not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled, or where the doer of deeds could have done better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust, sweat & blood; who strives valiantly; who errs & comes short again & again; who knows the great devotions & spends himself on a worthy cause; who at best, knows in the end the triumph of high achievement; & who at worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold & timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat." - T.Roosevelt

Kristian Gustafson (Grunt or the Flag Guy) was a jolly old soul who can be remembered for his love of KITH, Militia, lumber, & odd sports like fencing & Peruvian beaver cheese tossing. His pet peeves are the NDP and auto-decapitation. All he ever needed to know he learned in kindergarten so he hasn't remembered a thing since. He thinks he's going to one of those universities ... things in September '92. His last words to SMU:

Vae victis! Puto deus Fio!!

Jeremy Harris

A refugee from neighbouring Monterey, this student/athlete began his career at the Junior school in Gr 7. Without a pause he captured the science award under his father. A member of the Camp T-Bird pyromaniac gang in Gr 8, he lived through the Middle school terror. Gr 9 saw the end of skiing and the beginning of a basketball leg"EEE"cy. This eventually led to 9th place, 3rd, 8th, and 1st place finishes respectively. Most memorable, the provincial championship at the Agrodome. A warm-up favourite with his dunks, he was selected to the TC All-Star team. The 3rd XV captured some great moments in Gr 11, but for his senior year he is looking higher. Often heard saying "What have you done for me lately?" or just practicing his Croation with the 'frajer'. Jeremy will likely attend UVic next fall and to all those who have helped along the way, Thanks.

Yosuke Hirai

Yosuke came to SMU in 1990(grade 10). He was well liked by everyone, even though most of his time was spent with people outside SMU. If you walk along the main street in downtown Victoria and ask any funky looking people from various public schools whether they know Yosuke, they would probably say "Of course everyone knows that sexy man from Japan. Haven't you been to any parties?!!!" Like T.R., in SMU he is usually acquainted only with those in the Bee-Time circle. He plans to attend Acadia University and also to establish the first Bee-Time association in Nova Scotia. Brockett '99 - Rockin' the Reservation.

Jim Huang

Jim came to SMU in grade 8. He didn't know what he was up to, and neither did anyone else. Being a tall guy, he loves to play basketball. Other than that, Jim also plays the double bass. Once he almost broke the E-string which is the thickest of the four! On the sports front again, Jim joined the Badminton team in grade 10. He'll always remember that one Sunday afternoon when he cooked his ?*!? in the microwave up in International House. Within a fraction of a second, an urgent note came from Samuel's office...

Erinn Hughes

"I'd rather be seen for who I am, and be alone, Than be seen for something I'm not, and be lonely..."

I sort of showed up at the beginning of grade 10, after having escaped from Willie's Puddle (don't bother asking, it's up north) and after an inauspicious beginning, found myself kinda liking it here. Arriving back in '90 & finding New House in ashes was disturbing, but looking back, we did OK. "Grease" was a blast (thank you to all my students) and so was Hawaii (how about those Marines?!) Deepa's birthday still brings vivid flashbacks into play, but let's do it again sometime! Grade 12 brought some surprises, including the reappearance of old labels, but warpig will surprise you all one day, and so...goodbye to everyone, especially KP, Jen, my Portuguese friend, and my little brown buddy. Yes guys, they're big, but they're mine, and no, Huggies is not a brand of diapers.

Claire Hutchings

Claire, aka, Yogi, Clairice, Hutch, came to SMU from SMS in grade 10 where she was quickly swept off her feet by a certain K.W. New Year's was eventful in California, and soon Claire was wise to be single. At the end of grade 11 Claire played host to one of SMU's largest parties - the roadblocks, the Keg and the garden had seen better days. In grade 12 Claire will have fond memories of: "That tone was about", W.E.G. re-mix's, Jo's basement, Shelbourne M.C., A.P. Geo, spares w/ Jo, Western Civ. essays, PE 12...not, dying hair, Grad photo sessions, having the rabbit broken by two certain people, Jo's babysitting pool, and Cheese-balls in the summer at the pool. Grad will be another event to remember. Claire plans to travel or work next year before she attends either U.Vic, Bishop's, or U.B.C. Good luck, love BoBo.

Jennifer Innes

When I am in my ship, I see
The other ships go by.
A sailor leans and calls to me,
As his ship goes sailing by.
Across the sea he leans to me,
Above the winds I hear him cry:
"Is this the way to Round-the-World?"
He calls as he goes by.
-Winnie-the-Pooh

Forest Green Jenny-Bean came to SMU in Gr 11 from Paul's city, Edmonton. In the Atco's she was known for her late night chats with MS, KP, SF and TR. Jen's a peer counsellor (DK and TR) and played soccer and ISA basketball. She lives on pizza (EN) and bagels with cream cheese (CJ), and was a member of a certain fondue party with CJ, MP, CB and BD. Jen hopes to go to university and become a sports physio.

Chris Isherwood

Chris is a genuine enthusiast who has always given full value. He has played 1st XI soccer and was on the championship basketball and rugby teams. Chris' athletic skills have been augmented by some local community service and by some encouraging academic progress which will give him a varied choice of universities for September. Chris will likely enrol at Bishop's University in Lennoxville, Quebec and the basketball coach there is interested!

Choshu Ito

Choshu, a.k.a. Snowshoe, began his academic takeover of SMU in Gr 10. Snow's favorite quotes include "I'm confused", "I want to go home" & "I'm hungry". Chosh's extra-curricular activities include skiing down Powder Face backwards and testing Victoria's speed limits in his Integra. This year's school captain scholar has an APB out for a secret admirer who sent him a rose on Valentine's day. Sno-Shouw's goals are to study in the US, which will decrease the Canadian national intelligence average by a factor of 10 (or is it 100?) and which will greatly decrease the national consumption of Mars bars, Jalapeno chips and pizza buns. Chosh, you'll always be the best at whatever you do, even if you do end up flipping burgers at Mickey D's! P.S. Do you want fries with that?

Karim Jamal

Smudge, spoof, cocoa, papa entered this great establishment in grade 10. He has met a lot of people who he now calls his friends. His worst memory is the certain lady that he and H.R. shared in a period of a few weeks. This goes out to E.L., I hate people who put their dirty feet on my bed or chair. His career includes playing for the New Zealand All-blacks (NOT!) and being hailed the greatest basketball player. SO DON'T COME AND PLAY ON MA BLACKTOP. Also, to attend any university that will accept him and to graduate. Maybe, get married, settle down and have children, I don't think so. Saying goodbye to all those brothers and sisters out there: JB FF CS MP LC BD AF HR SN MN GB SF and many more.

Charlotte Jenkins

Charlotte aka Chocolate Charletto, Chuck & Char, who forcefully entered our lives in our last year in SMU, quickly proving her magnificent academic ability. She explored the Gr12 social scene for a while, but other areas were found to be more rewarding (You're still a great guy, Tom!) At Christmas, she discovered her lucky number - 28! "Burning those cheeseburgers" (LH) was never really her idea of a too great time - chow mega! Here's to slide film on Girl's Night (Way to go, Jo!) & road trips to Pt. Alberni - Hey! Is that a bus? She'd like to leave a brief word of advice to DK - Watch out for beer cans in the middle of the road; they cause accidents, you know! Reener nothing too wild & crazy - yet! Your paddleball skills are amazing - Hey Jason, what about those whips (Sorry!) Morgan - you're a great addition to any gaunch party - no hard feelings Col-in! JH, IH, SF, MC, TP, PD, DK, it's been real! Betcha thought I forgot about you hun PC - never! Remember big guy - life goes on (I wonder what awesome person said that one!)

Leneh Kaill

Leneh is from Sidney, BC by the way of the Yukon Territory. She made impressive academic progress last year and was a great help in the library, but her Gr 12 year has been hampered by problems with her health. Despite this serious setback, Leneh has been able to soldier on and will likely have sufficient academic credentials for acceptance to UVic and UBC.

Ming Kam

"Shut up!" "Let's order pizza!"

I have been a boarder at SMU for three years. My best memories are the days spent playing chef with JL & KT in the tiny portables. If we failed, Domino's Pizzas would come to save us. Three years at SMU. What have I been up to? Badminton. From losing all the games in gr. 10 to being undefeated in gr.12 with Jen. By being a library & computer monitor, I feel that I can help people in some ways, but I can never stop the noise in the library. Skipping chapel on the weekends seems to be my favourite activity & the key to success is hiding in the shower when people are coming to check you. Thanks SMU for giving me the chance to meet JY. My ambition is to get a degree in science at either UBC or U of T & finally I will get a black belt in karate.

Adam Kay

Ad's Ten Favourite Quotes:

1) I don't want to achieve immortality through my work. I want to achieve it by not dying. 2) If you have nothing good to say, come sit next to me. 3) Muscles come & go; flab lasts. 4) No one can have a higher opinion of himself than me - & I think he is a dirty little beast. 5) Humans are the only animals that have children on purpose with the exception of guppies, who like to eat theirs. 6) The difference between a violin & a viola is that a viola burns longer. 7) I was much distressed by the next door people who had twin babies & played the violin; but one of the twins died & the other has eaten the fiddle - so all is peace. 8) Having the critics praise you is like having the hangman say you've got a pretty neck. 9) It is after you have lost your teeth that you can afford to buy steak. 10) Early to rise & early to bed makes you healthy, wealthy & dead.

Kelly Kim

"Homework? We had homework?"

Grad year huh? I guess it's off to university and on with "real" life. Well, I've been here since April of '91, but it seems shorter somehow. I think it's the little things I'll remember most; philosophy discussions in English, being the worst shot in basketball possible, talking and laughing with good friends, and basically living a content, but confusing, year and a third at SMU. My best wishes to all of you guys and gals, and if anyone starts talking about the "good old days," I'll know what that means for me.

Joanna Kiss

Johanna will always remember: These eyes, Who's foo, Blackberry pies, Mr. Tongue's bathroom, the keg room, Cowboy Bob, Going to the MOX, Fame, Blondie, S.P.I.O.B, J.C. fair, there's Axel, hairballs in math, Nick, the Boot Pub, breaking the car, B.B, Blind one, deaf one, wise one, AP Geo, Chem 11, Port Alberni, Arms, J.C. and roses, March 4th, perming hair, grass hockey, girl's night, D.A.B, Bermuda, slide film, Steve Fonyo, FEST, W.C. trail and chocolate pudding, knee problems with M.F, "That one was about...", Cream soda slurpees, killing plants at L.S's, uh...What's my name?...

Erica Kjekstad

Erica came to school in grade 7 after six years at Norfolk House. During her 6 years at SMU, she has been involved in all of the musicals (except "Cool in the Furnace"- remember the Ice Mist incident?), and has always played field hockey. At lunchtime, Erica can be found in Brown Hall with Ann, Leah, and Susan having coffee (Are their seats still reserved?). Since grade 8, Erica had always had adventures on Outtrips. She went down the Campbell River sideways with Ann and developed a hatred of racoons at Montague Harbour (Holy Hell, that water was cold!). Erica will always remember foul shots at lunch in grade 7, Physics 11, Portland Island, Jackson Jives (Gravity is ten, I've said that 9.8 times today already!), AP Chem Labs with Matt and HCl, Madame Butterfly (The Search for Robson etc!), Super Bowl XXVI, Rufus, Rubber Duckie C&W style, "Come to me, My Persian Queen", Foggs and Suds after ice skating on Friday nights, HMW, skiing with Sim on the Grad Ski Trip, Dave's Laws of Snowboarding, and Island Acoustics coming down the driveway. Erica will also remember the grade 11 French video of Sadaam meets Mireille, and her favorite quote, "Excuse me means shut up, L.O.S.!" Erica would like to study Engineering at Queens, and create another Hair Club. Best of luck, and remember always, Moon.

Dan Klinka

Dan the man arrived at SMU in grade 8 and has spent the years perfecting his singing voice, and his stereo, and wrecking his hearing. Dan's an incredible runner and in the few days he wasn't sick or injured, proved himself by cleaning the track in the 100, 200 and 400m events. He also enjoys risking his life flying over jumps at high speeds on a motorbike or just throwing himself off 50ft. cliffs in the middle of February at midnight. Dan's everybody's best bud and had probably his record of meaningful talks on New Year's... Dan will always be remembered for his time done on the Nitnat Exchange, his luck with crossing rivers. He now uses every available moment to escape to the slopes. The entire grad class will miss Dan for his singing ('cha Right!!) and energetic air guitar in the halls of Queen, being probably the slowest eater in the school. SMU will most likely never see anyone enjoy Brown Hall so much, I'm so sorry Trevaw!

Christian Knoglinger

Christian is from Salzburg, Austria. He is a computer lab monitor, a housekeeper in his residence and has played squash for the school. Chris has had to adjust to a different education system in one short year and he will continue this process at Camosun College.

Curt Lainchbury

Thirty thousand feet over earth, over Victoria, over the clouds of rain and grey, over SMU, one reflects his memoirs. Two years ago he came to SMU from another world; transplanted home, resurrected into an entirely different state of being. In his hand, while writing this brief yet indecisive history, he holds a pocket of red, that when drunk does remind of some weekends which few will ever know, except Danforth, Calvy, mean, lean Mr Bevan and the Teutonic boy. The occasional boarder too full of rules, where was he to be found? Perhaps at the "Peach". Atco was an experience. International House fun. New International House short. A.k.a.'s due to the mysterious M.J.D.P.: Dix-gun, Lurt, Lurt 2 and hundreds of others. For those he knew and knows, goodbye, good luck, see you in the rat race. (Ya right.)

Sadique Lalji

Sadique arrived at SMU in his Raiders hat, loving rap and sporting the most impressive moustache in the history of SMU. He was reborn Deequer after meeting fellow heads Paul, Chris and Trev. When not at Cade, Deeques was active in school politics, stealing Stein's strangleheld position on Student Council and eventually rising to become the best ever head of 50/50. He will always remember days off in Grade 10 while learning to love Zep and the Lizard King. In Grade 11, he spent endless hours with AF while talking on the phone with VC and CP. In Grade 12, he discovered apathy, the jams and the blues and earned the title of Boss while rising to the head of the heads. His relationship with VC went up and down. Some things like his Sunday night shaves and SS will never change. Future plans include employing his friend and continuing the experience.

Grant Lamont

Grant arrived at SMU in Grade 8 and, after surviving "the canoe trip from Hell" was thrust into the confusion of the Middle School. However, life improved at the Senior School and this "sailor dude" quickly settled in to "normal" life at SMU. When he was not off windsurfing in Maui or skiing the slopes he could usually be found (where else?) sailing. A qualified sailing instructor, Grant has also competed in international sailing events and hopes to compete at the Canadian Youth Championships. Yet despite all this, he managed to find time to cruise into school in "da bug" and even attend a few classes. Although he came very close to mastering the French language, Grant's true calling was Mr J's chemistry class, where he could often be found titrating solutions for reasons still unknown to him to this day. This artist/scholar/windfreak doesn't really know what his future might hold, but we hear he might pack up his skis and head off to UBC.

Jeanne Lee

"I'm so frustrated!"

I arrived at SMU in gr 11. I spent my first year sleeping during by prep and getting up at 4 am to finish homework! Causing air pollution in the portables with my cooking and talking on the phone. Than gr 12 rolled around and I couldn't get enough sleep! Poor MK who had to put up with my weird hours! Un-4-gettable and memories: gr 11 kayaking trip, YUK! No light switch: no toilet flush!, skiing with the penguin squad, and lunch breaks with JH. Thanx to KT, ML, AW, JH, SC, WC, MW & OS who has given great memories that will last a lifetime. Special thanx to my roommate MK for being understanding and SC for listening. To Grads of '92, carry the spirit of SMU always! Best Wishes! P.S. Thanx to all my teachers! My ambition: To become a hot shot business woman.

Michael Lee

"It's a dog eat dog world out there, so carry a garden weasel!"

-Paul Collis

Michael escaped the tropical prison island of Singapore where he attended ACSS (American Chicken-Soup School) & entered SMU in Gr 8 when just about anybody could get in. He impressed his peers with his mystical car & fashion excellence well defined by his ventilated shoes & Value Village shirts. He played tenor sax and flute & many gruelling hours in the snake pit under extreme scrutiny of the Madman MacKay. He could also be caught in deep concentration (dozing) in Calculus or Genetic Hell (Biology). In Gr 8 when daydreaming wasn't a sports option, he tried his hand in Rugby and found it stepped on, crushed, bruised and mangled. But, Michael is only human. In other words, he is a carbon-band bipedal life form who happens to have very much his own ideas of who the world revolves around. After another 4 year 'jail term' (university) at anywhere he can get into, he intends to either join the Canadian military & make thermonuclear detonators or settle down in greenland & herd goats.

Ken Lim

Ken is an overtaill, underweight hermit from Singapore who has been a psychiatrist, mechanic and general slave at SMU. He will be remembered for his cynical insights (burning buildings, sinking ships, SAT's), oversleeping, knife-wielding shopping escapades, bell tower adventures and sailing. His electronics compulsion deserves special mention! Ken builds, destructs and tinkers with anything that has an electric current. This, combined with his eccentric taste in music made us really wonder. Yes, Ken serenaded us with American Pie in its entirety and renditions of outdated Broadway musicals. We survived, though, and wish Ken all the best in his electronics engineering future.

Steven Lin

"Bai Ch'ih"

Steven, who represented his family, crossed the oceans to explore SMU which was the Never Never Land where he wanted to stay in. He soon found some adventures. At the Outdoor "Hunting Trip", he hunted quite a few big and strong men on the arm-wrestling table, thus he received the title: <SO Bei Wong>. Not only a strong muscle-man, but also was a genius at mathematics. Steven was glad to be enrollment in Canada's brightest math class when he was a serious young man, but full of humor. He likes to make jokes at anything he sees and hears, and yet laughs before anyone else. It is funny to watch the way he laughs, especially when he is eating pizza, because more stuff will rush out from his red tomato sauce mouth; perhaps he is "too" familiar with PIZZA.

Jason Lindholm

Jason is from Victoria. He made a welcome return to the rugby field this year and played for the 3rd XV. Jason is an avid reader and a keen musician, giving much time to these pursuits. Next year, he will likely venture as far afield as New Brunswick, and enrol at highly regarded Mount Allison University.

Paul Malin

Paul "The Legend" Malin advanced at SMU from being a member of the Legion to just another guitar player for the Big Hair Blues/50-50 house band before finally becoming the first half of Tall Guy/Short Guy. His reputation for receiving great birthday gifts overshadowed his role as a founding member of the Heads. Paul's amazing lung power, spawning from his impressive trumpet career, abled him to enjoy many good times, most memorably at Saturna Island, on the easy Rider, and while watching Platoon. Paul's plans include jamming with Jerry Garcia and finally finding that 6'2" dark-haired deadhead girl of his dreams.

Chris May

Chris, aka Papa, came to SMU in Gr 8, a skater refugee from Willows Elementary School. He won every girl's heart with his big blue eyes, and after remodelling his look to suit the more popular Ralph Lauren attitude, Chris found himself as the most eligible bachelor at SMU. His incredible achievements in rugby - 2 years on the BC U-17 team, 2 years on the U-19 Crimson Tide team and 1 year on the U-17 national team - were only complimented by his somewhat secretive academic abilities. Although he had high aspirations in basketball, his competitive career never stemmed past the ticket door. Chris was captured by SH, TT, JH, DT, KD,....but he spent his years at high school desperately pursuing SA, who broke his heart, only wanting to use him. Shy and sensitive, we hope Chris will find the woman of his dreams next year, at UVic, where he plans to continue both his rugby and academic careers. His absence at SMU will be the loss of a male legend, while his sister will have to carry on the May tradition with Chris' style and persuasion.

Michael McArthur

Mike, aka "The Newf" came to SMU in Gr 8 with a trumpet under his arm and absolutely no French experience but did that scare him? Well actually, it did. Mike's career in French didn't last that long but his band experiences are a story of a different sort. As a veteran of the Don MacKay band program, Mike enjoyed playing in the senior stage band, and travelling on tour to Hawaii in '91 (land of sun and cloudless skies...NOT!!) Sporting activities varied over the years for Mike as he played on the school tennis, squash, cycling and cross country teams. When Mike isn't falling off his mountain bike, he also does his share of skiing and is a survivor of the grad ski trip. Although he is a literary genius when it comes to writing essays on tardiness, Mike found his true interest in the sciences. Mike aspires to attend UWO or Carleton but the west coast ski slopes will probably keep him close to home.

Julian McKenzie

Julian has logged an 8 year career at SMU. He has played rugby and was on the 1990 tour to the British Isles. Julian was a member of the cast of the "Pirates of Penzance" and has participated in the Duke of Edinburgh Award programme. He is interested in business in general and the hotel industry in particular, and will pursue this interest further in Ontario at either Guelph or Carleton.

Lindsay McLaughlin

Linz fondly remembers: Gopher, slide film, Mexico, S.L. can't swing, perogie, Tongue House and its bathroom, ACDC, hi sir, these eyes, blind one, deaf one, wise one, SPIOB, who's foo, Comox, ICAL, fame, Blondie, J.C. fair, there's Axel, drunk pedestrians, boot pub, hammer breaking the car, Chem and Phys 11, Port Alberni, 3mn V-ball, girls night, Steve Fonyo, depends, SNL, JM, Garibaldi, you suck, the stump in JK's backyard, Harvey House, uh, what's my name?, and DK's slugface.

Brent McLay

Brent is from Victoria, and he is a keen and successful athlete who has been a first team player in rugby, soccer, basketball and track & field. Outside the school, he has done extremely well in the world of basketball. Next year, Brent will attend either UVic or Bishop's with geography, business and sports his main interests.

Morgan McLeod

"And they call this a creation, this mess of torture."

A few key words & phrases on Morgan's life at SMU (1988-1992): Friends for life, bumwad, EED Round I, Frau Brauhamanamanama..., Mikado, the Flying Dutchman, "I am the lion!", Norman & Ethel Beakerbocherwchittentapper, the Court Jester, Hortensio & Kiss Me Kate, Billy Joel, Larry & Balki, the Seagull Band, Johnny Casino & Grease, spontaneous "Great Balls of Fire" & drool, Philostrate, "As you wish", Summit Trail, EED Round II, Shambadu, Darryl Van Horne, the Last Rehearsal, Lucentio the Lover, Gelfling?, Quantum Leap, Frederic & the Pirates of Penzance, Tiny Little Baby, peer counselling, Major Magnus the crippled half brother of Lord Muldoon who turned up out of the blue from Canada just the other day, prefecting, only 30 English essays left, Chief Inspector Foot, Whoop-ptht, "By the pricking of my thumb, something wicked this ways comes, INDEFATIGABLE!

Berenice Merino

Berenice is from Mexico City and spent one year at SMU after having completed her high school education in Mexico. she is a quiet, cooperative and well regarded young lady who has made good progress in her linguistic, social and academic adjustment life at SMU. Berenice returns to start her university education in Mexico.

Jenny Millar

Jenny Millar joined us last year from the right side of the Rockies with Birks on her feet, a song in her heart and a guitar in her hand. Her frequent visits to Value Village allowed her to scrimp and save enough money to refuel her Lear jet to get home. Treekiller could often be found meandering through the clearcut, daydreaming of dashing seafarers. Our green eyed wonder will soon be married, have six kids and a malamute and live in a log cabin in Jasper, with her rustic, strong, silent man.

Jamie Miller

Alias: Bush, Bushman, Jinzy

Favorite quote: "Bush", "Hanus"

Jamie came to SMU half way through grade eleven. He will always remember his friends from Arbutus and Mt Doug, especially JC,EH,AW,JM,AM. Also, his friends from SMU SN,CI,LM,AD. He will reminice about Washington DC, Comox, Las Vegas, and the Olympics. Jamie enjoys playing basketball and baseball. He hopes to go to school in the states to fulfill his Alaskan dream of opening a barber shop specializing in Helsinki Formulas.

Andrew Mitchell

One of my best memories of SMU was the many haapy hours of the Mexico trip in grade 11. I also enjoyed the temples outside Mexico City and the Mexican beaches. My only directed ambition right now is to travel extensively. All in all I've had a good time at SMU, but I can hardly wait to get out.

Clare Mochrie

The Mochster came to SMU in Grade 8, she probably would have been here a grade sooner if she was driving!. She will never forget the art of missionizing at the rental or the joys of the middle school with PR,RP,JK,LS,MF and the decieving looks of DR. Our biking trip to Salt Spring will never be repeated. As life progressed to the Sr school, SH swept clare off her feet, NOT! Mochsters Toyota seemed to take a few beatings as well as a few trees on Newport, and her mot-to soon became _____ happens. B breaks at Girls night will always be cherished memory (I think). Claresly Mochrie is a member of the soccer team and plays a brilliant left wing on the Sr. Girls field hockey team, probably due to her large feet. Spring Break brings Bermuda, sun & surf among other things. Come september Clare will be heading to McGill. Take it e-z mon amie, Good Luck and sisters 4-ever.

Karin Moore

Karin is from Kelowna, BC. She is a library monitor and a dance committee member, but in Karin's life her priority and passion is the theatre. She has played major roles in school productions: Frenchy in "Grease", Katherina in "The Taming of the Shrew" and Mabel in the "Pirates of Penzance". To complete her childhood ambition Karin will start her career as an actress at the American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York City.

Stephen Nash

Stephen came to Smu just after school started in grade 11, making headlines everywhere. This star basketball player is also a stud off the courts gaining attention from many female admirers. Steve has many friends across town and has shared his heart with a "few" ladies. Although these ladies would have loved to be his, he only has room in his heart for a very special lady from Belmont. Contrary to what Steve says he is a stud and will be one forever. Steve's first year of Rugby landed him a spot on the infamous 1st XV for 3 games. Steve will have opportunities next year that will enable him to expand his athletic horizons and will likely be seen in the NBA one day.

Anya Niemann

Although my actual time at SMU was only half a year, I tried to pack as much into it as possible. Orchestra and X-Country practice three times a week were a great balance to school stress, and gave me a good taste of St. Michaels busy life style. During that time I even managed to become familiar with my uniform - an unheard-of tradition in Germany. And of course I took advantage of the early driving age in Canada, so that I am now able to tour Europe, although I am not of German driving age. All in all I enjoyed my time at SMU so much, that after only half a year in Canadian culture I know that once I've got my German "Abi", I'll spend some time at a Canadian University.

Erika Norheim

My best memory of SMU is the grad ski trip. I like swimming, skiing, and playing ringette. I would like to study Political Sciences and Law in university, travel around the world, and then become the Prime Minister of Canada. During the summers I lifeguard and teach swimming in my hometown of Peace River, Alberta. Boarding has been a great experience because it has allowed me to make many close friends.

Suzanne Obdrzalek

Suzanne has made a name for herself in the area of debating and public speaking, competing at the national level, in both disciplines missing selection to the international public speaking meet by one place! Suzanne is a brilliant scholar with an added intuitive trait which puts her above many other brilliant scholars. She applied to three Universities and was accepted by all three of them, namely: Princeton, Yale and Stanford. Next year, however, Suzanne will go to Japan on a Ministry of Education Pacific Rim Scholarship to perfect her Japanese and do some travelling. In 1993 she will go to Stanford.

Trevor Parkes

Trevor arrived at SMU in grade 8 along with 3 other Gordon Head scholars. He played Basketball, soccer and rugby in his early years, but gave up everything to concentrate on rugby. This 1st XV hopeful, who plays both club and representative rugby outside school, will best be remembered for his smile in morning and his calm, controlled temper. He will best remember Dan's house, grade 9, both rugby tours and Dummer's party in grade 10.

Matthew Percy

Matt is from Edmonton. He is a prefect in residence and has an interest in drama, performing in the grade 12 production "Real Inspector Hound". Matthew is an intelligent young man who will go on to study arts at either McGill or the University of Toronto.

Cindy Perry

Cindy arrived at SMU via SMS/Indonesia/Australia in Grade 11 to spend 2 exciting years as a boarder. Despite the Marsy eyes her view from behind scored her BM and AF. Then her passion for older male studs pinnacle'd in her grad year with the equisition of John the numbers man (23). She also managed to fit in some time with girls KM, CH, and guys, SL and co. All those who had the pleasure of knowing Cindy will miss her as she continues on her partying globetrot, and probably ends up in some exotic land.

Thomas Petzing

Thomas arrived at SMU in grade 7, the little chap was probably a stud even in grade 7. I met him in grade 8, where he ran into a few obstacles ie. J.L.T.G. Jr. but managed to survive. He then made the jump to the Senior School and then transformed into the "star" athlete he is today in squash and rugby. Thomas soon found in grade 9 that there are alternate ways around the school campus, and knew the top floor of School House like the back of his hand. After this incident Tom was a little deterred from the opposite gender thus he received the name "Serge" which has really stuck with him. Grade 10 was a blur for most of us, Thomas evaded the grade 10 rugby tour for a much more masculine squash tournament. The grade 11 year was Thomas's glory days. He was the man to be, the social butterfly broadening his horizons and expanding outside SMU ie. SW. Grade 12 has seen to take the edge the of zingers rambunctious style, now he's the cool pre-yuppie. Thomas we all know. He has developed into a superb athlete co-captain of the Senior XV. Good luck you little chapper and by the way, you're still and always will be the W_____L.

Joanna Piercey

"You too will be assimilated. Resistance is futile."

Love, Jo

Bipin Pillay

"Now, you're out of luck." - Arnold S.

Following in the footsteps of the finest gentlemen of all time we find Bipin (Bipster, God, Raj, Wildman, Biplane). A scholar & a wit, a gent & a sometime knave, Bipin has graced all of our lives with his singular presence & character. His smile has been a beacon in our struggle to find terrestrial satisfaction in a world where shirts cost two hundred dollars & housemasters talk back. Bipin's world, intertwined within the fabric of ours, has been rife with intrigue & martyrdom. Amongst his many credentials is Bipin's affinity for ping-pong. In the hopes that we may again serve him, on another plain of existence, we salute the one we fondly call "Bipin".

"It is easier for a man to pass through the eye of a needle,
Than for human ears to hear Bipin's Sitar."

Gerald Platsch

Gerald, young Teutonic boy, arrived at SMU in the fall of '91. He won fast renown for his earlobes, by far the most beautiful at school. He made quite an impact in his brief tenure at SMU, converting his friends Matt and Curt to Calvinism and impressing passers-by with his nine inch long tongue and frequently exclaiming:

"You would not have such things in Germany. Terminate Him."

Sad but true - Messr. Platsch shall be attending Josef Meigle's Institute for Higher Learning in his native Germany, where he shall conduct experiments with dill pickles. Good luck, Ger. Amen.

Jessie Poh

Jess arrived at SMU in grade 9 and soon became famous for her many nicknames including Punj and Ho ho ho! She's often heard saying "I'm sooo bored", "J'ai besoin...FOOD" and "When's class over?" (usually spoken within the 1st 5 minutes of class) in her oh so many classes between her 12 spares a week! She made an outstanding contribution to the X-country team by constantly bringing up the rear! Over Spring Break Jessie helped out the field hockey team as well by scouting out all the hot studly guys in Bermuda. On the bus ride home from the X-country Islands in Comox, her true running ability was discovered in her desperate dash to the washroom. She'll always remember cramming for idiot tests in chapel, continually insulting SG, and practically living on a tennis court. Next year, we hope to find Jessie in some university in the East.

Rebecca Pollard

Bic found herself following the 'Poe-lard' tradition at SMU by grade 6 in the junior school. It was soon after her Alfonze days with the other 5 girls in grade 6 that she remembers a summer of watching TV, marking off the days 'til BB's return and eating gourmet grilled cheese sandwiches! Becster had many adventures during the days of 'the rental', gum on the ceiling, watching TD's window washing, growing dandelions (Where? In Uplands?) and then going back... The days and nights not ruined by the particular grey, dull and drab wop of her life, she could be found in the caravan, boating around aimlessly - or on a mission (nice bathtub). She had a tiny bit of TT then moved on to bigger and better things - then she met TREV. Bec experienced boarder life for a while in grade 11 and Rebecca St. soon became a popular spot for late night smart food in ATCO. Bec proved herself as a budding actress and perfects and displays her artistic talents on several bus stops around town. She has wonderful memories of deep fried vegetables, tanning in the springs, long nights in teepees and weekends at Trev's house.

The grad class will know how to find her - we'll look for the one with the PJ's under her shirt at the end of a trail of orange flourescent spray paint... or just ask Trev.

Mark Pospisilik

Pops, (Popsicle Stick) returned to civilization in gr 8 when he got off the boat from Africa. Pops displayed his talent on the rugby field from the Junior Colts A to the 1st XV with his patented tackles. In gr 10 he tried to enlighten his roomates as to the meaning of life. "It's all in a belt, guys!"... "Shut up and go back to sleep!" Most of gr 11 was spent terrorizing old International House with L.C. The next year, he was much more relaxed as Head of Cameron House. Two clubs in which Mark participated were the "Grub Club" (of which he was a founding member), and the "Tolmie Wine and Cheese Club", the latter of which held meetings throughout gr 10 and 11. In this capacity, Pops was able to tremendously improve his style on both the UK & Ireland Tour '90 and A.K.'s Mexico Trip. Pops is told that his best memory includes a midnight scenic drive down Pat Bay Hwy at high speed with Jack. Mark doesn't really know where to go next year. The Sorbonne sometime, perhaps?

"Uuuuh! ... Shut up!"

Katherine Preston

"Thank you for a funky time" - Prince

Kathy P joined us in Gr 11 from the City of Champions. She soon became a Head of House and amazed all with her raging authoritative power. When KP wasn't calculating her favourite integral, she could often be found pounding the pavement in her Birkenstocks trying to beat her record 6 minute 2400m run. Kat had an eye for nature and a yearning to set each tulip free. She would be lost without her hammocks, wooly socks, Boston and Still Life with Woodpecker book. When no entertainment was to be found, all would stare at Ol' Beacon head until she lit up the room. All we can say about her hair is, man, it's huger than Hardy!

Kevin Price

Kevin is a keen actor taking parts in "Grease", "The Taming of the Shrew" and "The Pirates of Penzance". Kevin's greater talent is in art where he is talented and prolific enough to want to study art at University. It should be added that Kevin is also a good scholar in other subjects. He will enrol at UVic's visual arts department in the fall.

Tisanu Ratanarat

Tisanu came to SMU in 1988, to find a whole new place consisting of the kind of people he never met in his life. Not having the ability to speak English well, he was taken for a quieter guy with a socializing disability. Fortunately, there are a number of people who really got to know Tisanu; and they are of course, his Bee-time buddies. They are the only people who knows Tisanu's true personality(!?) In the near future, Tisanu can probably be found in Canada, USA or Britain with his new Bee-time friends (depending on where he decides to go to university). Before he goes, he would like to thank all those people who made his life in SMU more bearable (YH, MP, BC, TS, SL, CF, etc - Thabks to you all). We all wish him well in his goal of world domination. BEE-TIME FOREVER!! Brockett '99 - Rockin' the Reservation.

*Correction!! Tisanu can actually be found at the booney land of Troy, New York. He will be attending Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (School of Engineering).

Peter Robb

Peter is from Victoria and Port Hardy, B.C. He is on the dance committee and has given good service to SMU sports through 1st XV rugby and track and field. Peter has an interest in studying environmental science and geography at university and his choice of venue will be from: UVic, Bishop's, Western Ontario.

Tanya Romaniuk

Tans came to SMU 3 years ago as a boarder to occupy the strategic bottom floor corner room of New House w/ AD. Her first memory of SMU is one of cold, sleepless nights as she was misled into believing the outdoor trip would be exciting. She soon saw the light & developed a certain respect for Brown Hall cooks. The next year, a tragic fire burned down Hotel New House, but 1 1/2 months billeting w/ KP & devouring homemade food followed. Ron soon returned to Brown Hall cuisine & the spacious Atco suites alongside JI & SF. She slid across the stage in the musical Grease with CH & may have had more fun than they had bargained for. Looking for fun & sun, Tans joined the music tour bound for Hawaii. Although Hawaii was blessed with neverending rain, she managed to find excitement along w/ DT, CB & countless natives! Gr 12 brought new hope. Ron was now a member of the curfewless crowd. Along w/ this freedom came much needed rest. She once again graced the stage in the musical Pirates of Penzance. Tanya has many ambitions & plans for the future, but she will begin by pursuing her studies at a university in BC or Alberta.

Hartland Ross

Hartland came to SMU in grade 9 from St. Georges. He soon took centre stage with sidekick Puke and strutted his stuff at the infamous Club Assley. He experienced the pleasure of being landowner of highway 107. Hardy graduated from the Obesely Oversized Mammal Survival Course after a tangle with an AC. With help from SY and her roommate's frequent absences, Hardy acquired one of his many nicknames (The big MR). Hartland was often heard telling roommates "Lookout, I'm taking my shirt off!" Hardy was a leader in sports such as rugby and cycling as well as making regular appearances at Cartel. He was also a leader in the house and proved to be an excellent heterosexual role model. Anyways, he's off to McGill (Or UBC if they won't take him). If he gets another roommate, he'll probably hear "Shut up! I'm trying to sleep!" or "No man...You don't understand." Ramble on Hardy.

Peter Irwin Rowand

"Eat, drink & be merry, for tomorrow we're going to hell in a handbasket." "Uh" "Vodka & tonic" Peter arrived at SMU in 1988 as one of the inbred cloven piglets inhabiting the Middle School. Tired of pigliness, he fled to an unnamed public school to refine his social skills for a return to his comrades in Gr 12. Armed with JC & a drummer, he was oft seen cruising the cosmos with the Supersonic Subaru, a smile on his face & Sputnik running through their collective heads. School related sports were sadly neglected for risky adventures in golf, hiking, January swimming & extremely memorable skiing vacations (What was her name anyway, John?) or Greek vacations (What was her name anyway, Pete?) & attempted counselling. Peter has lofty ambitions at UVic & eventually Bettisland for complete redevelopment of the country in the moral spirit of the Quakers & the spread of the American traditional nuclear values.

Marta Salgado

Marta Master Marta-Mc hailing from Portugal brought with her an etiquette and elegance unsurpassed by Brown Hall patrons. Every so often she seemed stressed out but brief encounters with a certain editor who made house calls almed her down. She frequents the discos of Switzerland, Portugal and London, and she enjoys sailing the deep blue sea in her lazer. Her greatest ambition is to find cappucino and hot apple cider on tap! Her melodious laughter could be heard everywhere which served as a useful sonar detector whenever you needed to find her. Her deep sensitivity, kindness and compassion attracted a harem which followed with a quick eye for those...PANTS. We love you Marta!

Rachel Sanglap

This is the case study of a student to whom we shall refer to as "PIG" (earning her name for her huge appetite and no weight gain). She arrived at this institution of higher learning at the early age of 13 and joined the gifted and the talented at the ranking of grade 8. Throughout her quest for knowledge, Pig was influenced by a wide spectrum of people and activities; ranging from hacking at other young females shins with a long hooked stick, running long distances through mud and rain and singing with heavenly beauty at weddings. She has participated in school musicals in hope of co-ordinating her singing and dancing skills. Sailing proved to be a favorite strenuous activity for the out trip which she managed to go on every year. She has been known to spend an abnormal amount of time in the snow at local ski slopes and in the clubs in not-so-local Bermuda, where she seems to find MAXimum enjoyment. A few personality quirks to note: Raichle will quite literally growl at the mention of blond altos who can't keep to their part, run like mad at the sight of eyeliner and get woozy at the sound of a drum-beat. After SMU Rachel will either attend UVic for the music programme or Camosun College for Nursing.

Naomi Saville

Naomi or Nim (never Niomi) came in gr.7 to make many friends & memories. Gr.9 saw the end of Mr Speed & an interlude with JW (not our headboy). An excellent student, Nim survived Mr M.'s caterpillar mustache to graduate into the dubious joy of Mr F.'s glittering prizes at cocktail parties. She also cites bio as a favourite class, even after being persecuted by Mr G. Naomi spent gr.11 having depression sessions with JW, man-talks with JB & chocolate mousse with LA. "OK, Naomi made it all. I wasn't even there." Math 11 was spent wondering how Ms G. ever got her hair so...like THAT? These days, Naomi can often be found listening to the trials of everyone else's love life, when she's not busy with RvR. She will be remembered for her acrobatics at dances, laugh attacks with LA (be vewy, vewy quiet...retarded jackets, etc) & her unfortunate lack of ability at certain card games. You have to wonder about anyone who can get so excited about dissecting pigs, but Nim hopes to take this enthusiasm on to a career in medicine. If that fails, she has a knack for the personalized card business. Whatever she does, we wish her luck, & give her our thanks for six years of being a great buddeeeeeeee!

Brian Scanlan

Frank first arrived at SMU in garde 7 sporting the shortest haircut in the grade. His next year at the school passed in virtual anonymity, but who wants to remember the Middle School anyway? Frank really came into his own in grade 9, becoming known briefly as "MOO" following IF's party, where he had something that that definitely wasn't Gatorade. Frank recalls only partially UK and Ireland 1990, but knows that bowling and ethnic cuisine will never be the same again. Grade 12 saw the setting of new traditions, such as wrestling garbage cans on Tolmie's rugged hill with BD and MP. Academically, Frank perfected the art of conference testing in Socials 11, and was interested to note that Schmittie and Steve consistently scored higher than himself. In History, Frank fooled everybody with his stupid questions. Frank hopes to pursue a career in film.

Jan Schmidt

Jan came to SMU in grade 4 from Germany. In grade 6 and 7 he was known for his chocolate sandwiches. In grade 9 he played for the grade 10 island championship team for rugby. In grade 10, Jan was a member of the 1st XV. Jan also plays basketball for the #1 SMU Blue Devils. In grade 11 he won numerous all-star awards including an island first all-star. Jan can frequently be found in Colwood visiting LB. Jan will hopefully attend university and continue his basketball success.

Adrian Schwann

SMU has given me a school from which I'm proud to be graduating. I only joined the class halfway through Gr 10, but was welcomed by groups of people that would become lifelong friends. Those who know me, know the "pickle", my driving, and my curse. These summed up, with my friends, have given me stories and memories neither my passengers nor I will forget. I like skiing, cliff jumping at Sooke, running and wearing my Depends on a Saturday night with CB, DS and SL. Some of my best times have been with PC whom I thank for his advice, friendship and a wicked New Year's Party! I wish my stay could have been longer at SMU, because each year gets better and makes it harder to leave.

James Scott

James is from Victoria. He is a peer counsellor and a cheerful young man who is both a musician and an athlete. James is an outstanding baseball and football player and within the school, played rugby for the 1st XV in Gr 11. This year he has devoted most of his life to music and he will be fondly remembered for his role as the Pirate King in the "Pirates of Penzance". James' music credentials at school include senior stage band, jazz combo and the orchestra. He has his own band which performs locally, and he will devote next year to work and music, and attend the University of Alberta in 1993 to study, predictably, music.

Lisha Scott

Lish began her SMU career in Gr 8 at the Middle School. Playing field hockey every year and an active social life has kept her fairly busy over the last five years. A UVic hopeful, she wants to continue in the Victoria social scene for as long as it takes to acquire a BFA in Creative Writing or Journalism. Although not particularly musically or academically inclined, she has attempted to contribute to school life in other ways, such as keeping the teachers on their toes. Her ambitions include travelling, meeting new people and partying hard. Conceivably her SMU background will keep her on the right track.

Monica Sethi

Monica ventured all the way from the well known oil capital of Fort McMurray, Alberta. (If you've never heard of the place, put yourself at rest because you're not the only one.) Arriving in Gr 10, the innocent and well behaved "Monica Sethi" turned out to be quite the opposite! She is well known for her nightly excursions, catching sunrises on Tolmie and breakfasts at McD's with BD. Gr 11 was fulfilled with lunches in Vancouver with KM, the five star accommodations of Atco trailers and AC/DC. Gr 12 found Monica as Head of Cook House and a prefect. She will head off to university (somewhere) and hopefully get into medicine.

Ignatius Seu

"Let me tell you a secret...I don't have any secrets."

Ignatius, better known as Iggy, burst into SMU for his graduating year. His open character quickly made him many friends. Hailed as the Chem whiz, Iggy does exceptionally well at school. But don't let his quiet attitude in school deceive you. His flamboyant, happy-go-lucky personality has also earned him the name, Salty Jr among his friends. His friends found out too late that he has a tendency to talk nonsense and act a bit odd at times. ("Who me? I don't have fits at the dinner table!") Iggy manages his time efficiently allowing him to participate in sports such as badminton and tennis. Hence his reputation as the Edberg serve. Salty Jr hopes to go UBC next year to continue his studies (of girls). Good luck, pal!

Oscar Shen

Oscar De la Renta first arrived at SMU in grade 11. His friendly personlaity made him a well-liked person in school. He can play a good hand on piano, is a good runner, plays stylish tennis and also does well on academics. Being a prefect may be a notable achievement and beneficial expearence in his grad year. The two most unforgettable things in this two years must be the time when he graduated and the outdoor trip at the end of grade 11. In grade 12, he broke his record of having an average sleeping time of 5 and a half hours per month. He still has not decided what he will choose as a career. Perhaps he will become a docter or an architect. However, he will surely try his best to attain his final goal.

Dylan Smith

Through a decade of attending SMU, Dylans's pet peeve was the Grad class of '91. His favourite spot was the twisty weird tree which was replaced by Wenman Pavilion. He often ate lunch there and many fond memroies ocured within the vicinity. For spare time, Dylan was a member of the notorious Team Pukin' Hootchies, the outdoors 'who-said-it-can't-be-done' club. Though over half of his electives are Arts, he is going on to major in Physics and Astronomy. Dylan had a notable appreciation for the music and arts program at SMU. He spent all 4 of his senior years with Art classes, 2 with violin, and a final 2 playing piano for various bands and quintets. I'll let Joanna write my closing sentence.

Clive Southcombe

Clive came to SMU in grade 8. He soon learnt the quick way to high places with the lords: JB, FF, KJ and PC. Clive has enjoyed playing rugby throughout his five year stay at SMU, and especially the UK tour. He also enjoys tennis, and skiing, and can often be seen tearing up the slopes with AD and RG. Clive will be remembered for always doing his math homework, Big Bertha, and for his unique ability to make up words. If skiing doesn't kill this guy, "Nifer Power" will! Next year, Clive will likely attend either UVic or UBC.

Mark Stanger

"Greetings & Salutations""Everybody knows the year is over. Everybody knows it went by fast."
 "And when they called out his name, He put up his hand!! Scary, huh?" "Your story's sad to tell. A teenage ne'er do well. Most mixed up non-delinquent on the block." "Baby, you can't drive my car." "Angst""LOVE HIM, TOUCH HIM, FEEL HIM, LOVVVE HIM!!!" "SEXY, SEXY MAN""My Pen, My Pen""I had the pear dream""Voici le mouton, oooo, le petit mouton""And did those feet in ancient times..." "Umwelt, fathom the Concept""Now is the time in English when we dance."
 "All around""Now your bangs are curled, your lashes twirled, but still the world is cruel. Wipe off your Angel face & get out of high school."

Karen Tang

Karen arrived at SMU in grade 11. Quickly attaching herself tp MK and JL the terrible trio used to cook up a storm in the ATCO. When the trio tried to cook shrimps in the portables! You will never find Karen alone, SC is always somewhere close behind. Karen's ambition is to be a pediatri-tion and take education as far as possible. Memories of skipping, Barking, and singing in the quad. Arranging B'day celebrations, no matter what it is, Karen always comes through for her friends. Thanx also to KP who was the best roomy in the world.

Milan Uzelac

Milan has been at SMUS since grade 8. He has been very active in many sports during his five years at SMUS. He was a part of the B.C. Champion 1st XV Rugby Squad, Captain of the 1st XI Soccer Team and Co-captain of the B.C. Champion Senior Boys Basketball Team. Milan's main ambition in life is very simple: to be very wealthy! Along with his friend C.M., Milan was one of the friendliest people at parties! His worst memory is of the first round loss the boys basketball team had at the Provincials in grade 11. One of his favorite memories is od "The Fearsome Four-some" which included C.M., B.M., J.S., and himself. The other is being part of one of the best basketball teams in B.C. - ever! His favorite line comes from C.M. - "O.K., O.K., O.K....." He wishes all the grads the best of luck in the future.

Ryan Van Roode

Ryan is from San Diego. He has enjoyed a successful athletic career at SMU being a member of the provincial champion basketball team and a key member of both the cross-country and track teams. Ryan is a quiet dignified young man who has grown in confidence and stature in his academic pursuits as well as in the athletic arena. He likes Victoria and will continue his education at UVic this fall.

Tanis Wahl

Tanis came to SMU in grade 8 from St. Patricks - a born athlete, scholar and leader. She vacationed from SMU in grade 11, only to return to the magnetism of the school's incredible bachelors; sensitive, intelligent, fun-loving, mature young men... Our beautiful international model's energy and positivity only inspired us to smile, even on the days we had 8 million tests, AP classes from hell and a timed run. Tanis' only weaknesses were her vivid nightmares of eternal bins and robin red breasts with butcher knives. However, she cures these fears with cliff jumping, psycho trampolining and professional ski action photography. Next year Tanis heads for Toulouse, France and she will leave behind her the broken heart of KCIN. In Toulouse, it has been prophesized that she will meet the man of her dreams in a small intimate cafe. Hopefully she won't forget all the memories of good ol' Victoria.

Jason Winters

Jason was this year's head boy. He is a very good student and is thoroughly immersed in just about all facets of school life - indeed Jason has set a gruelling pace for himself and has still managed to deal with everything successfully and in his own special, friendly, easy going way. Jason has been a tower of strength to the grad and dance committees, the student council, to school sports through his performances for school teams in X-country, ISA soccer, track and cycling, and to school drama. This year, Jason played lead roles in both the "Taming of the Shrew" and the "Pirates of Penzance". In some ways, Jason has earned himself a rest and he might spend some time next year in France, but if University beckons, he will most likely study sciences at UBC.

Matthew Wong

Matthew is a boarder from Sparwood, BC. He is a quiet contributor as a library monitor, a school badminton player and a musician with the orchestra and stage band. Matthew performed in the "Pirates of Penzance" and has achieved great success as a math contestant. Next year, he will study engineering at Queen's.

Robert Wong

My worst memory was my first day at school in grade 11. I had just moved here from Claremont and I knew nobody. The first few weeks were hard enough that I was about to drop out. One of my better memories was when I just barely got my Driver's license as the examiner kept yelling at me. I enjoy many activities especially sports such as football, soccer, hockey and others. Rugby was a howl when I was first introduced to it. When I get around to it, I'd like to earn myself a Corvette ZR-1. Next year I'm going to enrol in the management program at Carleton in Ottawa.

Melissa Worth

B&W investigations forever, hiding in the bushes at 3 AM. PR & Dammers. What a crazy bunch of private eyes. Our colourful collage will always be hanging. The telephone is surely a useful tool, but it sure doesn't replace the bed or sleep. She will always be dedicated to BV and AK and they will always be dedicated to her. She will eternally be a feminist, treehugger and granola muncher.

Michelle Wright

When Michelle arrived at SMU she was believed to belong to International House - but was later blessed with feminine ways. Her love for art and sports allowed her the benefits of art room monitor and a position on the soccer team. In garde 11, she bobbed with LM, MC, & SF in Tongue House despite her short leave of absence. Her stubborn hair techniques and her love for school dances inspired us all. Also, her talent with spray paint will be remembered throughout Victoria. She recently discovered her facination with turtles; while perfecting the art of spitting. May the spirit of Room 104 live on. She can be found with the head(ettes) RF, VC, MW and RP at Muff, McDicks or cade.

Sandie Yew

Sandie came in Gr 8 to receive her 1st nickname, Suzy Q, & find LG. Sandra Dee spent her time making trouble in language classes ("Ce n'est pas poli", CB's walkman w/Frau Brauhamanaman) but also remembers her 1st driving lesson w/o glasses at Hillside at 2am & traipsing through Uplands w/2 giant inflatable crayons. There were also the mandates in summer school w/JP, Japan & Thailand (w/the enlightening men-women discussions/bawl sessions & the misadventures of JW's intestines) & the pizza guy at JA's ("Hey baby, you can park in my lot anytime..Aagk! Lock the door!") Gr 11 brought Brandy Brew B-Fests & talks w/PR in driveways & at the golf club amidst sprinklers while watching meteors. SanDeee-Lite discovered this year that her SAT scores were surpassed only by her flexibility & hygiene or her skill at sabotaging lab equipment w/SA. The bizarre weekends at the Peach w/MP & Co, w/one night in particular, NO NOT THAT ONE, the one w/ the erogenous feet, were very educational. So were the car rally & Rocky Horror, not to mention the hours spent at Muffin Break & on a rooftop doing demonically possessed Chem sheets & dishing gossip w/JP, SG, CI, JE & SA. She has been so inspired by the pig dissection (Good ol' M__) w/ NS & Mr Gardiner's classes (w/ his esoteric jokes) that she's going to McGill to study bio.

Ayako Yuasa

Ayako came to SMU from Japan at the end of Grade 9. "Alkali" found Chemistry to be her strong subject where she spent many a happy day with her friends drawing happy faces. Ayako-Alkali is well known for her hot boyfriends (CAM!) and cool cars (so far an Acura and a Jag!) Her friends LB, LG, JP and YH will look fondly back on going out for coffee and playing pool with her. Her pet peeves are happy faces, people who tease her about her accent (weally Wisa and Weah, I'm solly) and those who mess up her hair. Ayako will remember fondly all the time she spent at SMU, just wishing it could last longer. all her friends (too many to list) are Weally glad she's staying in Victoria to go to school 'cause we'd all miss the Alkali were she to go back home. Thanx for being such a good friend.

Andrea Yuen

Andrea first flew into the harmoniuos family of SMU at the age of 17. Presently she is working on a project for the international flying crab competition. Without a moment hesitation and desperation, she handles all obstacles in a surprising skillful way. With her usual intimidating and threatening techniques she is able to persuade any probable rascals to participate in this competition. She is also well known for going to bed at 8-9 PM everynight regardless school day or holiday. Anyway, we all wish her luck on her future career in engineering.

Front Row: Choshu Ito; Jenny Ellis; Mr. David Penaluna, Headmaster; Mr. Keith Murdoch, Chairman; Shanti Atkins; Jason Winters

This proved to be a fairly straight forward session for the Student Council. We like to think that the absence of any major concern reflects the effectiveness of our predecessors in previous years. For example it is thanks to the work of a previous Student Council that the Saanich Authorities have put in sidewalks and upgraded McRae Avenue and Knight Avenue thus making our school a safer place for pedestrians.

The members for 1991-92 have been a conscientious group of leaders who have shown a sensible and caring attitude at our regular meetings. They are to be commended for the manner in which they have carried out their responsibilities.

World Debating Champion Alexandra Oliver

In March of 1992, Alexandra Oliver, accompanied by Ms. Greer, flew to Aylesbury, England for the World Debating and Public Speaking Championships. She competed with speakers from over seven different countries during four days of hectic, nerve-wracking competition at Aylesbury Grammar School. Alexandra qualified for the finals in each of her four events: persuasive speaking, parliamentary debating, interpretive reading and impromptu speaking. Her persuasive speech took second place and discussed the current media backlash against feminism. She won the impromptu event with the topic "If Only...", and spoke about what she would RATHER be doing "if only" she wasn't there! Alexandra was slow to react at the awards ceremony when, to her absolute disbelief and delight, she was awarded the plaque for the "Best Speaker" of the competition.

Student Commonwealth Conference

This year the venue for the weekend conference was St. Margaret's School, Victoria. Ann Behennah and Aynsley Wong represented the United Kingdom while Sean Puttergill and Jahangir Charania assumed the roles of the political leaders of Sierra Leone.

The debates were wide ranging and topical. The subject of the status of women in the Commonwealth was hotly debated as was the diversion of aid from the poorer Commonwealth countries to the new C.I.S.

Ann Behennah eventually emerged as a prize winner and was invited to attend the national conference which took place on Parliament Hill in Ottawa.

MUSIC

Music

The 1991/92 school year for the senior music department was exciting, challenging, busy and filled. The classes included grade 9, 10, 11, and 12 band, choir and string classes, music composition in grade 11 and 12 and for the first time Music History was offered to the grade 12's. We started out the year with the Thanksgiving Harvest service where the choir performed beautifully under the direction of Mrs. Humphreys. In November there was the Remembrance Day service at which the orchestra performed "Jupiter" from "The Planets". We were also privileged to have Mr. Buckingham play the pipes and Paul Malin play a very expressive version of "The Last Post" and "Reveille".

In December the grade 9/10 choir members performed in a concert at the Royal Theatre with Frank Mills. Also in December there was the Carol Service in our Chapel. The Senior Brass Ensemble played "Adoramus Te Christe" as well as accompanying the carols. The senior chamber choir did a wonderful version of "The Candlelight Carol" to add a nice touch to the program.

Our major concert and art show for this year was in February and was a very successful event with all the musicians in the school participating. Everyone enjoyed the music, staging and lights and went home wondering what it would be like to have a real performing arts centre. We were all pleasantly surprised by the quantity and the quality of works presented by the art and music departments. Mrs Humphrey's choirs were again brilliant; Ms. William's orchestra played a memorable rendition of selections from "Les Miserables" and Mr. MacKay's bands were in fine form. In the computer music side of things Jeff McCracken's percussion work received the expected questions while Dylan Smith's piece for computerized big band proved that indeed there is still a need for live musicians. A good time was had by all.

Also in February the orchestra and jazz band did a day trip to Galiano Island to do two performances for the school and community. Both were very well received.

The school musical was "Pirates of Penzance" under the musical direction of Mrs. Humphreys with assistance from Mr. MacKay, Ms. Williams and Mrs. Skinner. This show was a great success with Jamie Scott showing his true colours as a fine pirate king. Also our fledgling video arts club, a spinoff of the music composition program put together a very commendable video of the show.

Spring brought with it "The May Ball" which was a chance for the senior jazz band and the grade 12 combo to demonstrate their professionalism. They played for a total of six hours and from all reports a grand time was had by all. The senior jazz band was very busy this year with other performances including: the family barbeque, a performance for Glenlyon Norfolk school and Shawnigan Lake school as well as performances at the legislature and the Ocean Pointe Resort opening. All of these Performances were very well received and it was with some dismay that many of the members of this year's group had to graduate.

Also in May there was an evening of song featuring the grade 9/10 choir who performed selections from "Joseph and the Technicolour Dreamcoat".

The last event which had to be put together were an orchestra for prize day and graduation. At this event we premiered a piece of "homegrown music" by Michael Lee, a grade 12 music composition student. He conducted his own work, "Question Two", which was very well received by all. Our winner of the Blencoe Cup, Choshu Ito, as well as playing lead Alto Sax in the jazz band was there playing his violin in the orchestra. And that was it for 91/92.

CREDO

Karim Jamal

Peace, I give unto you
As you tread the stairs of life
Sombre, envenomed obstacles
They rise from the grave
Staring at you with a macabre grin
Like the statues on Easter Isle.

Forever looking infinite, these stairs be
Convolutd in shape
Immoral in being
Slow at first, quick with a jump
Then slow again, you dance with evolution.

As you approach the summit
You apprehend the epitome of life
And relish in the bloom of the Afterlife.

Tongue House

It was an excited and exuberant group of prefects who arrived back early to prepare themselves for the first year in the existence of Tongue House. A brand new building and pristine rooms welcomed them with open arms. A new Housemaster affectionately known as PKT, as well as a Kathy Markham, a veteran of AT-CO now proudly housed in her own apartment, and two new assistants, PE expert Kim Poland and university student Fiona Chambers were all poised for action.

A full house of forty girls across grades 9 to 12. What would the year bring? Great relief and joy at the new surroundings, a few minor early glitches, but most importantly an atmosphere conducive to study. Quiet two person rooms with lots of space quickly transformed into personal homes. Much has been achieved over the course of the year. Involvement in sports, music, drama, art and debating has brought much pleasure as well as the necessary hours of studying. Without doubt one of the features of the year has been the great sense of responsibility shown by the members of the House such that house meetings have hardly been necessary and when required the message has been quickly hoisted in. Hardly any disciplinary action has been necessary, leading to a happy and comfortable atmosphere.

The Grads in particular seem to have enjoyed their final year and certainly in the latter months was catalyzed by a highly successful weekend away at Fiona's farm on a deserted Gulf Island. We wish them all success in the future and hope that they have many happy and lasting memories of their last year in residence.

A word of thanks to Jeanne, our housekeeper, who kept everyone in order, and of course our superlative prefects. Karen Tang, Sarah Frew, Marta Salgado, Mandy Chan and Shereen Fard each in their own colourful way kept the ship on an almost straight course. A special word of thanks to our Head of House Katharine Preston who's quiet leadership set the tone and atmosphere on what was a most enjoyable experience for us all. We say a fond farewell to all those leaving and hope that this year will hold them in good stead for their future lives.

Peter Tongue
Housemaster

Cook House

This was a year of change, in many respects, for the girls and staff of Cook House. In September we began by living in Harvey House with the comforting knowledge that we would soon be in our deluxe new accomodation, and with the desperate hope that the building crew would work very quickly indeed! Despite the creaky stairwells and tales of ghosts, our days in Harvey House were important as we quickly became acquainted in these close quarters. In time, the girls adjusted to the new house staff and our need for routine and we adjusted to the girls and their need for a break from it. We enjoyed many happy times throughout the year as we ate far too many Dairy Queen ice cream cakes and consumed mountains of popcorn. I thank the girls for their laughter and sense of fun. The summer months will be extremely quiet without them.

As I reflect on my first year here I realize that I have been so very fortunate to be supported by three fine assistants, Lisa Hyde-Lay, Lindy Van Alstine and Mary MacKay. Our Head of House, Monica Sethi, made an outstanding contribution as did our five prefects, Deepa Abraham, Jen Millar, Erinn Hughes, Shannon Valdal and Aynsley Wong. I thank them most sincerely.

The year passed far too quickly in a whirlwind of birthday parties, Halloween and Christmas celebrations, house outings and Saturday Night Live sessions in the Cook's family room. Through our many frivolous activities I believe that the girls have learned the value of good friendship and support for each other in a community of young ladies who were committed to excellence and achievement. This is the greatest gift that they will receive from each other although they will likely not recognize this for many years.

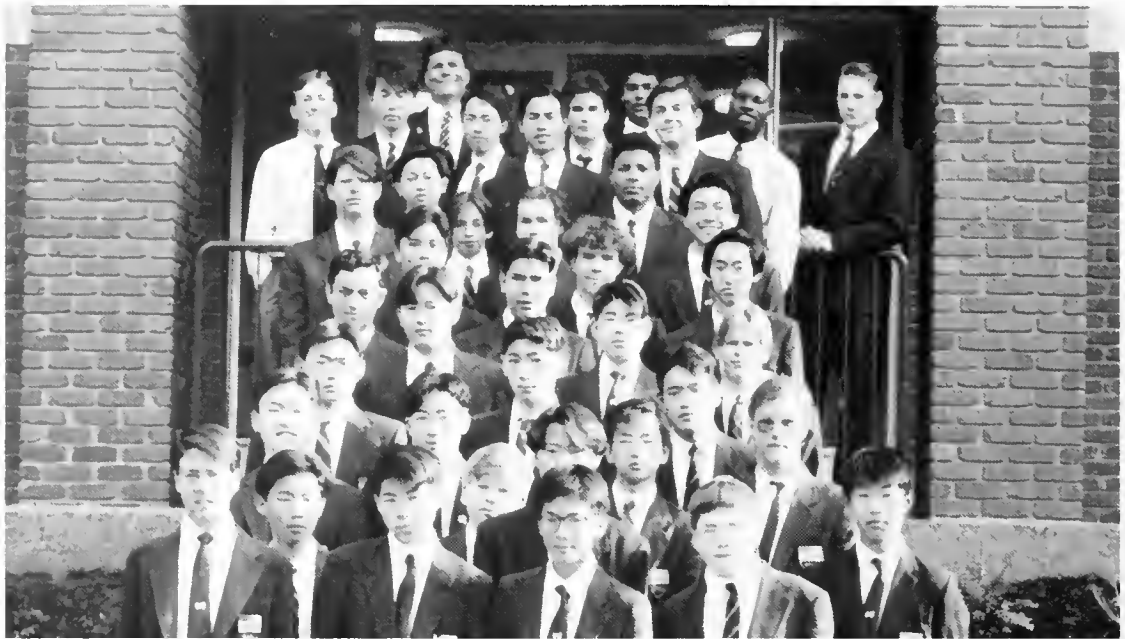

To the girls who will return to the house this fall, it is my hope that we will have another positive year and that we will perhaps switch our loyalties to Baskin Robbins!

To those who are leaving us, it was with sadness that we said goodbye to them at our final picnic - yet another afternoon of eating! They will be missed by all of us, especially our two year old daughter, Nicole. Our only consolation is that we now have dolls named after many of them and so their memory will be kept alive in our house.

After the Graduation, I watched these girls leave in a flurry of hugs and tears and as we said goodbye I was secure in the knowledge that they are a strong and able group of young ladies with a bright future. In years to come I am certain that these girls will have many memories of their days at this school and in this house. I hope that they are happy ones.

Mrs. Kathleen Cook
Housemistress

Kuklinski House

September 1991 at SMUS began with life in the ATCO trailers for residents of Kuklinski House. Not the most elegant of beginnings, especially for the new students. However, the close proximity in living aided in the development of a caring and cooperative family atmosphere. I thank everyone for their patience prior to the completion of and move into the new abode in November.

Upon taking up residence in what seemed to be "Five-Star" hotel accommodation and learning to live with a roommate, all settled down to work and play quite smoothly. This was helped through heavy house involvement in interhouse basketball and indoor soccer competitions, end of term dinners at Louie Louies and BBQ at Mt. Doug Park, and rallying to support and encourage each other through exams. Yes, we had our difficulties but the understanding and cooperation of all made life easier and enjoyable.

I would especially like to thank my fellow house parents Mr. Evan Jones and family, and Messrs. David Hyde-Lay and Spencer Robinson for their assistance, dedication and care to the needs of the household. Also, a big thank-you to prefects Bryan Chan, Oscar Shen, Edward Choi and Sameer Kajani, most ably led by Head Prefect Leo Caffaro, for their timeless efforts and feeling relationship to all in the house.

We have all come a long way this year in terms of our concern for others and mature approach to life in general. Again, I thank everyone for their tolerance and enthusiasm. A year I personally will not forget. Finally, I know that everyone would like to wish the grads all the best in their future endeavours, and like those few who are not returning to SMUS, we hope to see a visit from you sometime soon. You will always be welcome.

Greenwell House

This year we were all new to the "family" house system, and although things were rather tentative at first, in the final analysis, it seemed to be a great success. Our house prefects, under the fine leadership of Hartland Ross, were very helpful and gave us lots of advice, as did Mr. Owen-Flood who is a boarding veteran. We were also ably assisted by Mr. James Chastnut and Mr. Doug Parker. Our house prefects were Bryce Dearborn, John Cantlie, Bipin Pillay, David Adams, John Ban and Bill Hann. They deserve our thanks for a job well done. One thing that impressed Mr. G. was that the grade 12 prefects were all AP Calculus students. We were sorry to say goodbye to our grade 12 graduates but we are sure they have all moved on to achieve great things, and we wish them success in their future endeavours and hope they have benefitted from their experiences at SMUS. We also say goodbye to Mr. Doug Parker who goes off to pursue a Master's degree at a university in the East. We will miss his wit and panache.

During the year there were many activities. Some highlights were the inter-mural sports competitions and some cultural activities. The basketball interhouse competition was ably organized by Barret Hatton and we are happy to report that Greenwell House came out "on top". Kuklinski House organized soccer in that we were a close 2nd to Cameron House. On the cultural side there were several outings to the theatre. These included "Fiddler on the Roof", "Jesus Christ Superstar", and of course the wonderful SMUS productions of "Taming of the Shrew" and "Pirates of Penzance".

Everyone has enjoyed the spaciousness and comfort of the new boarding houses. The feeling of newness persists, but gradually a feeling of closeness and family has developed. The hallways are quiet now - where has all the music gone? - but we look forward to the return of our "family" in September.

Cameron House

Osbert Sitwell described boarding schools as "places of dreary internment where the most extraordinary tribal values and standards prevail" and where children remained until such time as their characters have been formed in the same hard, dense and unpleasant mould as those who would teach them.

Did I really want to give up a pleasant, relatively sedate life to be part of a scene of such unparalleled depravity? Yes, I thought, it sounded like fun, so my family and I girded up our tribal values and set out along the jungle trail that led to the internment camp.

When the students returned in September, we - that is Messrs Goodwin, Clarke, Mark Penaluna and I - were ready for them; we would be fair, firm and friendly whether they liked it or not. The two Marks - Pospisilik and Grist - headed a team of prefects that included Steve Chang, Paul Malin, Jasie Leekha and Adrian Campillo, with the later addition of Steven Lin, and to them was entrusted the running of the house. We solemnly stressed the need for the three f's, for communication, and for making sure that not only did we know when when we were on duty but that we actually got up on that day; we spoke airily of managing a house comprised of 38 teenagers of normal stature and inclination.

Then Gerald arrived, and Dermott, and the Tres Amigos, and the Modem, and Jeremy - the grade 8 with grade 12 instincts -, and David the Dormouse, and so on, and I realized that I wasn't ready at all. "Where's Gerald?"; "I think we need to redefine the word 'work', Dermott"; For a CHAT, Colin?"; "Estas loco?"; "Jeremy - I've never known anyone with so many gorgeous sisters with so few clothes"; "Sorry to wake you, Paul, but it is 11:30"; Christiaan - Mr Goodwin is mildly curious about those 500 bath mats"; "There's a floor somewhere under this lot"; "You've lost your NOODLES?"; these plaintive cries and more will forever echo down the corridors, as will the voice of Mr Goodwin as, like a 20th century Diogenes, he searches for a tidy room. We acquitted ourselves in inter-house soccer and basketball, winning the former and revolutionizing the latter; numbered among our flock talented sportsmen, actors, artists, musicians and, in the person of Roger Huang, a world record telephone user; and all but one of us made it to the end of the year.

"Education is an admirable thing, but it is well to remember from time to time that nothing that is worth knowing can be taught." If Oscar Wilde was right - and perhaps if he wasn't - the house this year was run by the pizza man, but I should thank Messrs Goodwin, Clarke and Penaluna, the two Marks and the prefects for their able and generous assistance, wish Greg Clarke the best of luck next year at Acadia University and the Grads - Marks x 2, Christiaan, Paul, Matthew, Steve, Steven and Wilson - a happy future, and commend the survivors to the tender mercies of Jasie, Adrian, Ben, Vincent and Jason.

Jones House

"The old order changeth and giveth way to new". So it was in Jones House this year. In September, with the odour of fresh construction permeating the building, we saw the usual hybridisation of 'veteran' and 'rookie' boarders. The change of course was the presence in the house of students from grades 7 to 12.

To Ed Crothall, our head of house, we give our thanks for his strong, quiet leadership. To the prefects, Sadique Lalji, Sean Chen, Matt Percy, Ian Gardner and Jamie Goodier, who led the freshmen housemaster through their first year we express our gratitude for their patience and tolerance.

To the students we give our sincere thanks for making the house a warm and welcoming place to live. They showed great patience and understanding during the early days when several 'bugs' in the system had to be flushed out eg: the missing common room furniture, the faulty fire alarm, blocked toilets, etc. The relaxed atmosphere of the house was illustrated by a grade 10 student who when asked whether he enjoyed the Saturday Night Live video replied "Yes, it was a terrible movie, perfect for weekends, you just didn't have to think."

To Mr. And Mrs. Johnson and Mr. Wheeldon, we hope they enjoyed the year as much as we enjoyed having them on board. To Fred Marchesi, our GAP exchange student from England we wish 'Bon Voyage' and hope that when his post secondary education is complete he will visit us in the house. To Mrs Cameron and Mrs Jones many thanks for the monthly birthday cakes. To the graduates - work hard, play hard, keep in touch and remember that there'll always be a warm welcome for you in the house.

Finally, to Domino's Pizza, for your unfailing service in less than 30 minutes we extend our gastronomic gratitude.

Athletic Director's Report

It has been a noteworthy, exciting year. The school has enjoyed success in a wide range of athletic pursuits, winning three Island and two BC championships, and appearing overall in six provincial tournaments. Pure results aside, there have been many other wonderful moments, ranging from the opening of a new field (goodbye Hill Pitch) to the frenzied support given the Senior Boys Basketball team as it chased the provincial title at the Agrodome. Then, moving from the sublime to the ridiculous, watching a talented (but aging) staff soccer team in desperate straits against a vastly improved Senior Girls 1st XI.

Also significant has been the continuation of PE in the day timetable for all grades and the move to fall totally in line with public school leagues (which has meant the end of our much valued Senior Independent School rugby connection).

As Athletic Director, while occasionally I must field complaints and other brickbats, most often I receive kudos most assuredly deserved by others. Thus, in thanking especially all the athletes for magnificent effort, I must also pay special tribute to a talented, enthusiastic band of coaches who have worked tirelessly on behalf of the school. Further gratitude must be expressed to an equally dedicated nursing, laundry, kitchen, office, janitorial, ground and bus staff who do so much behind the scenes. The 1992-93 year looks equally promising, as a great number of talented athletes are set to return to school.

To this group, and indeed to the graduates, the best of luck. First and foremost, enjoy yourselves. Remember the value of loyalty, duty, unselfishness and sportsmanship. Remember also the words of legendary coach Vince Lombardi - "THE HARDER YOU WORK, THE HARDER IT IS TO SURRENDER."

Junior Field Hockey

The 1991 Junior Girls Field Hockey Team played in the city league and three tournaments this season. The league results placed the team 4th in the city. The team swept the ISA tournament for the second year in a row. The girls played five games all in the same day. The results were outstanding: 6-0, 5-0, 6-0, 4-0, 2-1.

The team struggled in the City Tournament but in the end came through to reach the final game against Oak Bay. The game went into a third overtime period before Oak Bay took the trophy. The Island tournament proved fierce competition as always. The girls played well and ended the season as the 4th place team on Vancouver Island. My congratulations and thanks to all involved.

The First XI Hockey Team enjoyed another very successful year even though our season was delayed in early September and our game schedule was cut short. When things finally got underway in mid-September the girls were keen to play and early signs indicated that we were on track for another strong season. Our win/loss record was very impressive-the team went undefeated in city league play, undefeated in tournament play, capturing the ISA Championship for the third year in a row, and repeated as Island champions defeating Highland of Comox handily 3-0 in the final.

Our biggest challenge lay ahead-the Provincial Championships in Comox at the end of October. The weather and field conditions were excellent and the girls performed very well finishing first in our pool after two days of competition. We met Crofton House in the semi-final (whom we had beaten in the ISA Tournament) and knew they would be eager to redeem themselves. It was an excellent match by both teams; unfortunately the end result was victory for Crofton House by a score of 1-0. Co-captain Jennifer Ellis sustained a serious hand injury in the semi-final game so was lost to the team for our final game for third place against O.K.M. Fitness became a factor after the first 35 minutes, as both teams were beginning to feel the effects of the rigorous tournament schedule. Full time saw the teams tied at 0-0, which seemed a fitting way to end the game as it was so evenly matched. The end result - third in the Province. An excellent finish by a great group of hard-working, talented young athletes.

The team will take a break over Christmas and meet again in February to begin preparations for our Spring tour to beautiful Bermuda. No doubt a little bit of fun will be had by all.

I would like to thank all who played on the team this year with a special thanks to the Grade 12 girls who provided outstanding leadership throughout the season. Good luck in all your future adventures! Pitter patter...

With a second place finish at the Sardis Tournament and a second place league finish to the eventual provincial finalist, 1991 was the school's best ever soccer season. We were beaten only once each in league, tournament and the play-offs. The team boasted a blend of tough and talented grade 12's and promising grade 11's. Winning traditions have to start somewhere and for the soccer program this was the year. We dropped only 3 points in the league and were eliminated in the last minute of the play-offs. Although the results may have disappointed some, we played entertaining and disciplined soccer, becoming a force to be reckoned with in the city.

Brent McLay had a great season in goal, while the three Chris', May, Beardsmore and Isherwood, along with Jamie Grier, Jeremy Harris and Adrian Campillo formed a solid defense. A variety of playing styles with toughness, high work-rate and creative flair in midfield was provided by Adam Kay, Hywel Jones, Fraser Fletcher, Jason Owen, Jason Sturgis, Renton Leversedge and Chris Darimont. Moreover, our team had one of the highest scoring and talented forward lines in the city with Milan Uzelac, Martin and Stephen Nash and Robert Card. Utility players Ilja Herb and Jim Anderson played just about every position the team needed.

Special mention must be made of the dedication of Jasie Leekha, Masashi Umeoka, Demian Monroy, Andreas Berg, Barret Hatton and Monty Bridgman who all played for the 1st XI and attended practice regularly. We wish our talented group of grade 12's a successful soccer future. Our grade 11's, who acquitted themselves so well, create an optimistic outlook for next season. Thankyou to all who took part for an enjoyable season.

"Soccer's not a matter of life or death, it's more serious than that."
Bill Shankley

The Senior Girls soccer team finally took its place, where it belongs, in the city play-offs. After a number of lackluster seasons, the right combination of skill, hard work and tough tackling proved that SMU girls can play with the best of them, and win.

An unselfish attitude towards playing time, saw a squad of 28 girls practice hard and share field time for SMU this season.

Sharing the responsibility of goal tending, Erinn Hughes and Jen Millar bravely faced any barrage without flinching.

The defence of Shanti Atkins, Jessie Poh, Charlotte Jenkins and Christie Grieg, marshalled by Nicolle Williamson at sweeper, combined to keep some of Victoria's best strikers at bay.

Our mid-field boasted some of the schools toughest and best athletes. Shannon Valdal, Kyle Fulton, Jessica Chant, Susan Campbell and Morgan Black covered a lot of ground, supporting the defence and forwards. Up front, speedy and skillful forwards like Allison Garwood, Kim and Tanis Wahl, Leah Bowers, Kirsten May, Fiona Scanlan and Sarah Longhurst gave us some very entertaining displays.

Two rookies, Hems Nosh and Jenna Mills, who played soccer for the first time, surprised everyone by how quickly they picked up the game and how well they played.

Our utility players Jen Innes, Shereen Fard, Rachel Sanglap, Jenny Daniel, Amy Lenk and Fiona Ely played wherever they were asked. Their dedication and contributions were very much appreciated.

Without question and despite injuries, the Junior XI proved also they have the "Right Stuff", raising the school's expectations for another winning season next year.

To our graduating grade 12's, the school thanks you for your contribution to a fine season. Our wishes for a successful sporting go with with you.

The Junior Boys Soccer season proved to be too short, as the lengthy spring break necessitated a number of games to be hurriedly rescheduled into a 10 day period in early April. As it was, lacking a sound buildup, we finished 4th in the West Division with a 3-3-1 record. This meant that we had to play East Division powerhouse Oak Bay in City quarterfinal action. An outstanding performance saw us lead 2-1 with ten minutes to play - unfortunately, two late Oak Bay markers, both on penalties, ended our hope of an upset. Best of luck to all players trying out for the Senior team in September.

Confronted by thirty eager faces competing for eleven positions, a soccer coach has two options; play as many as possible as often as possible, or make cuts and spend the rest of his life looking over his shoulder. This coach chose the former, and spent the next few weeks looking over a forest of shoulders.

Our three-week league season started inauspiciously. We returned to school following the spring break to discover that the lone copy of the game schedule was in Britain on, of all things, a boys' rugby tour; as a result, we missed the first fixture, against Parkland. However, if talk is any indication, we would have won by at least ten goals. In any case, this proved to be a reprieve at best, as our next game was against Oak Bay, the strongest team we were to meet. The first half was encouraging; we scored the best goal of the season on a beautiful through ball from Melissa Swayer which Leah Sturgis took in full flight and shot low past the keeper in the far corner, and ended the first half a respectable 1-2 down. Unfortunately, in the second half we lulled Oak Bay into a justifiable sense of security, giving them the space and time to score four more goals. Despite the setback, we were buoyed by the fact that we had scored on our first date, and this, with a renewed appreciation of the work that had to be done on defence, added focus to subsequent practices and games.

Matches against Cedar Hill (1-4) and Lansdowne (0-2) suggested that the idea of using three goalies and a 6-1-1 formation was starting to pay off defensively, and a 1-3 loss to an elderly GNS team saw the unveiling of a potent new weapon in our offensive armoury - the genuflick., in which a whole forward line leaps as though to head in a corner shot and Joanna Forbes sneaks in behind them to score with her knee.

The final match of the league season produced, fittingly, the best soccer. Girls ran into space and called for passes, which were delivered accurately, we pressured our opponents defensively, and throughout played our positions intelligently. The result was a 2-0 win over Arbutus, both goals scored by Leah following good linkage between defence and midfield.

Subsequent performances in draws against Brentwood (0-0 and 2-2) were technically rather rustic but played in the spirit that typified our games all season; competitive but friendly and a lot of fun. The fact that seventeen girls were prepared to give up the time at the end of May to travel to Mill Bay reflects the interest and commitment shown by team members all term.

I always hesitate to single out individuals in what is essentially a team effort, but it would be wrong to omit mention of the drive and energy of Melissa Sawyer, Morag Wilmut and Katie Leong; the courage and terrier-like tenacity of Alison Pengelly; the speed, control and opportunism of Leah Sturgis; the ever-improving steadiness of Kim Gillespie in goal; and, perhaps most important of all, the defensive skills and leadership of Adrienne Price, who time and again steadied the team in desperate situation and repeatedly rescued us from disaster. Solid performances by several of the grade 9's, particularly Jeanie Norris, Hannah Farrell and Kelly McBeath in defence bode well for next year.

Thanks, ladies. It was a gas.

Our last game, against Arbutus Secondary, may be considered the symbol of our season. Starting tentatively, we fell behind by 2 goals early, but tied the game before half time. Then we went ahead in the second half, twice, and we made a good team work hard, stretch and claw, to salvage a point. Arbutus tied the game four all with less than 2 minutes to go, but then we were not done yet. We still had a great chance in the dying seconds to gain the lead. Only a game's best save by the Arbutus goalie kept a dangerous high shot out of their net.

Not many experts would have given us a chance against that talented team, but then, talent is not just a skill, but also a demonstrated ability to think and work hard for the betterment of the team.

We had plenty of individual talent in every position, but it was the quality of team effort that made the difference for us; contributors for our successful season is that of the roster. Forwards, who practiced their shots for hours, played fullback when the team needed help, and defenders overlapped into attack to produce goals.

Our season was shortened by bad weather, we had too many cancellations. We would have improved still with more competition.

We all had fun, just playing the game. And we will be back: opening in September, home and home - against Arbutus.

Congratulations, team!

It was a difficult season for the Grade 9 rugby group, as lack of numbers, poor practice habits and an overall lack of size proved to be formidable obstacles. Though competitive for long periods of most games, the teams could never gain enough quality possession to score points, and, in the end, were invariably worn down by bigger opponents. All six ISA games were lost, and heroic defence was required in several matches to keep the result to less than a 20 point deficit.

Happily, all was not doom and gloom. Many of the players displayed good skills, and with increased physical maturity will display them with greater confidence. Hopefully, this will begin to happen during the 1992 Colts season.

A number of player did enjoy banner seasons. Gethyn Jones, at flyhalf, battled valiantly all year and displayed many of the necessary touches in his demanding position. Hooker Graham Daniel and flankers Ed Wang and Mark Parker gave away many pounds to all opponents, but played with great skill and courage - if only some of their larger teammates had been so committed!! Also, No. 8 Demian Vezerian performed solidly in all matches. The key was backrow forward David Fairhurst, who, if he could match a practice work ethic to his considerable ability, could become one of the best forwards ever at SMU.

In the three-quarters, scrum half Jesse Frender played with great gusto, as did left wing Surya Tjandra, who ran with great bravery into, through, and around much larger opponents. Alas, a good number of the other backs rarely felt the need to practice properly, and so improved little.

Best of luck to the group next year.

Colts Rugby

The 1991 rugby season was a very successful one. No fewer than 52 players took the field, 28 of whom scored tries. The philosophy of moving players between all 3 teams seemed to pay dividends and produced a great Colts spirit. All players must be congratulated for their positive acceptance and enthusiasm to numerous positional and tactical changes placed on them.

The Independent School games were competitive at all levels. The C team recorded big wins over Brentwood twice and Shawigan Lake once, and only a late try by St. Georges halted an undefeated season. The B team had a tough ISA year, winning 2 games and losing 4 but all in close, hard fought matches and only by small margins. The A team opened with a narrow win over St. Georges, followed by a disappointing loss to Brentwood. With positional changes, the team bounced back to win big over Shawnigan Lake and defeat Brentwood 16-12 in a rematch many felt was a game of extremely high quality. Unfortunately, the West Coast weather played havoc in raining out the two final ISA games, preventing a decision as to who was the top side.

Two Colts teams were entered in the Greater Victoria League. The B team fared well against other school first teams, ending with wins over Lansdowne, Cedar Hill and Stellys, whilst hanging tough against Parkland and powerhouses Claremont and Oak Bay. The A team swept all challenges aside in pool play, only having difficulty against Spencer. An exhibition win was also recorded over Oak Bay. Into the City Playoffs and a semi-final against Claremont in wet conditions. A tremendous team effort produced a through and convincing 38-0 win.

The City Final was played against Spencer and again featured a great team performance. Strong forward play coupled with expansive back play and superb support, led to an excellent 33-0 victory and the City Championship.

Next came the Islands, opening against George Bonner. Despite a 19-0 win we showed some tiredness and a few cracks. This placed us in a semi-final against hometown Brentwood with not just a trip to the final at stake. The cobwebs were blown off immediately with a terrific start but we could not get on the board. Brentwood scored on their one chance and this was enough to take us out of the final. All were disappointed but regained energy to take Spencer 28-0 for a 3rd Island placing.

Overall, 32 games were played between the 3 teams, with 22 wins and 10 losses. Top try scorers were Cory Lee with 15, Jason Yoo with 8, and Shawn Hawkins with 7, while Trevor Hoskins kicked 16 conversions. Andrew Field, Jamie Sharp and Andrew Barry all led by example with their positive captaincies. Jimmy Clapp, Andrew Shostak, Emmet Connolly and Leland Bradford also contributed tremendously. Thanks everyone, especially all new players for your perseverance, enthusiasm and improvement. I know we all wish Andrew Pospisilik a healthy and quick return.

Thanks to coaches Mr. Cook and Mr. Parker for your time and making it all enjoyable. Also to parents for your tremendous support.

Senior Rugby

Once again SMU entered 3 teams in the city leagues, with the 1st and 2nd XV playing for the Howard Russell Cup and the 3rd XV in the Col. Hodgins competition. An increased number of teams in the latter league lead to a much higher standard of performance this year. The 3rd XV included many players new to the game, and they are to be congratulated on their fine progress. The forwards were always under pressure against much bigger opposition but battled courageously with a good degree of skill. Barrett Hatton is to be especially commended for his great effort and considerable improvement. The backs moved the ball well, with little penetration from first phase, but scored some spectacular tries once the ball was in open play. Mathew Franklin had a very good season controlling the pattern of play, while Satoshi Kikuchi took off on many dazzling runs. One of the early problems this season was to settle on what was the best starting line for the 1st XV. This meant that during early league and exhibition play a large number of players were given the opportunity of representing the senior side. An added complication was that many of the players could also perform in a variety of different positions. The result was a series of fine performances by both the 1st and 2nd XV's, with the latter outscoring the former on some occasions. The finest performance of all by the 2nd's was the Howard Russell semi-final when virtually en masse they hammered Claremont 70-8, allowing the 1st XV to rest up for the final. Mainstays of the pack, who always gave their best, were Trevor Parkes, Iija Herb and Clive Southcombe. This group was well supported by the individual talent of Martin Nash at fly half and the ever present Robin Forbes at centre or wing. Indeed it was a fine season with some memorable moments. As for the 1st XV, many teams would have been decimated by season ending injuries to three key players of the calibre of Ryan Gillespie, Robert Card and Chris Isherwood. However, because many of the players had already been exposed to first team rugby, it appeared to make little difference. An unbeaten league season and a convincing semi-final win lead to the Howard Russell final against Oak Bay for the second consecutive season. The team pulled off one of its finest performances to record a 43-0 victory, scoring one particularly memorable counterattack try.

The team went into the Provincial Championship, to defend its title, as #1 seed. Exhibition games had already been played during the season against Carson Graham(#5) and Semiahmoo(#3), and therefore the standard required to win was known to be very high. It was hoped to use a large squad in the early games but even during the first day it became evident that few risks could be taken. After two wins against Burnaby South and W.J. Mouat, Kelowna presented a major obstacle with a very aggressive, robust performance. After some difficult passages of play, the team scored a classy try to pull away and record a 16-3 win. The strong defensive qualities of the team were beginning to emerge at this point and an error free, more limited style of play was the choice for the semi-final game against Carson Graham, which was won 13-4. Semiahmoo had come through the other half of the draw very comfortably and as it licked its wounds back at base, there was some concern as to whether the team could raise its game for the final battle. On another sunny day a large crowd greeted us at Thunderbird Stadium for the final showdown. A superb opening salvo brought three points, but then Semiahmoo stormed back to score a unconverted try. The team then withstood a period of intense pressure before scoring a fine converted try to regain the lead. A penalty just before the half made it 12-4. The second period of play saw the team take over the game with some decisive running and skillful passing, resulting in three further tries and a final convincing 29-4 victory.

The front row had suffered through the loss of Gillespie, but Richard Klassen and Jamie Grier pulled off some fine performances to make amends. David Adams and Ed Crothall performed courageously, both playing out of position. Second row had been the most competitive spot all year and Brain Scanlan made it his own with outstanding commitment and desire. Brendan Barry pulled out the stops when it really mattered and had a great final. Without doubt one of the strengths of the side was the back row which worked together as a cohesive unit. Two abrasive hard nosed flankers, Chris May, outstanding going forward, and Ben Trevena, stopping everything in his path, were complemented by the heady and brave #8 Bryce Dearborn.

Tom Petzing had a fine season at scrum half showing excellent skills and an ability to read the game. Brent McLay was as solid as a rock at fly half, and along with powerful centres Milan Uzelac and Mark Pospisilik, made a formidable defensive wall in the middle of the field. Renton Leversedge and Peter Robb complemented each other well on the wings. Lastly, Steve Nash, at full back, kicked beautifully and set up many tries with his perfectly timed passes. The team did not have a number of outstanding players, but it showed few weaknesses, had real depth and, in the end, put into practice all that had been asked of it. Congratulations to everyone involved in a fine season.

Thanks to Mr. Grenfell Featherstone and Mr. John McIntyre for their efforts this season, and also to Mr. Ian Hyde-Lay for his outstanding technical coaching and words of wisdom.

1st XV UK Rugby Tour

This was the most unusual beginning to an overseas tour, with seven of the squad being left behind in Vancouver. This was deliberate of course, as they attempted, successfully, to win the Provincial basketball championship. Feeling somewhat exposed and alone, Mr. Tongue (Spesh) and his 15 pioneers set off after school on the last day of term for London, England. A smooth flight and approximately 24 hours later the players were to their own amazement running through the "Streets of London" looking for some green space, which to their delight they discovered after about 10 minutes. Regents Park, an extensive area of land including a rugby pitch, became our training base for the first 3 days. A couple of strenuous workouts early on got the players in the right frame of mind for the first game. A different "first test", with a few chaps late back for curfew, created the opportunity for an even more vigorous training session before moving on to Wimbledon College and our first stay. Here we renewed old friendships with a school who had visited Canada just one year earlier. What an opening to the tour it proved to be, with SMU winning comfortably the first "unofficial" game. A visit to Hampton Court and its pleasant surroundings occupied the next morning before the arrival of our triumphant basketball squad, which went straight into a training session. The veterans trained with glee as the new arrivals struggled through their paces. Match day started with a visit to the ALL ENGLAND TENNIS CLUB, including the museum and centre court. The game itself was a bit of an anti-climax. It was hard fought and Wimbledon College was good defensively, but neither side could create many chances. In the end it was decided on penalties, giving us a narrow 6-3 win. Ben Trevena and Chris Isherwood had strong games defensively for SMU. A win in the first game on tour is always important and a much relieved squad enjoyed a good evening with their hosts.

Our second stop was over the border in Wales, where we met old rivals Glantaf. Rhodri Samuel came to take the coaches off to enjoy an evening away in Brecon, while the boys prepared for what for them was the biggest game of the tour. Glantaf has a formidable reputation in Wales with some players of phenomenal quality. Unfortunately some, because of international duty, were unable to play against us and with Rhodri's presence providing extra emotional commitment the forwards sparked us to an outstanding 22-4 win.

While touring Cardiff Arms Park prior to the International between Wales and Scotland, the team saw several of the Welsh team out practising kicking to get the feel of the conditions. This sharpened the interest and anticipation for the game, which took place in front of a capacity crowd of 60 000. It was a great occasion to mark the end of a great stay.

Next we crossed back into England to Wrekin College to meet more old friends. The new headmaster Peter Johnson welcomed us to his school for a game played in very changeable weather: sunshine, wind, rain, hail, thunder and lightning and more sunshine. We did not produce such a strong performance as against Glantaf, but some superb moments saw 5 tries scored, 3 from Peter Robb on the left wing. Moving on from Wrekin, we had a day to ourselves travelling up to and staying in Edinburgh, Scotland, where we took in a Scottish Student vs Scottish U21 game at Murrayfield. Many of the players had the chance to check out a few old haunts in Rose Street after training in the meadow in the afternoon.

On next to Dundee High School, near which we visited Glamis Castle, home of Macbeth and a favorite vacation spot for the Queen Mother. It was an outstanding trip, featuring a trivia quiz, secret passageways and Peter Robb.

A firm, dry, wide field promised an open running game vs Dundee, and we were rudely halted in our tracks by a fine set of attacking backs who quickly created 3 tries, as our hosts rushed into a 14-0 lead. We consolidated and dragged our way back into the game, kicking a penalty and beginning to dominate in the forwards. An early second half try was vital, and it came along with a superb Brent McLay conversion, narrowing the gap to 14-9. Unfortunately, captain Chris May and half Tom Petzing had to leave the field with concussions and this allowed Dundee to recover and finish the game with 2 late tries for a deserved 26-9 win. There was much disappointment after the game, an extra long time to get changed, and a quiet reception to follow, but also much to be learned from the experience.

On arrival at Glasgow a silly game of Aussie rules was the perfect remedy, and once again the team was in great spirits. Again it was great to see 'auld' friends from past visits, and we were all keen to get going with the final game. Being piped onto the field is a great experience and it obviously lifted our players as we rambled to a quick 18 point lead in the final few minutes. Glasgow High worked back into the game but could not contain the sharp SMU side who went on to a fine 31-8 victory. It was a great finish to a wonderful tour, further capped by a Scottish Celidh, with Chris May resplendent in flowing kilt!

A couple of days back in London was a reward for all of the hard work. There were some awards at the final team banquet, including the MVP to Jamie Grier and Bryce Dearborn. Lots of happy memories took us through the long journey home, and straight into 3rd term at school with a second Provincial Championship very much a possibility.

Congratulations to Robert Card and Jamie Grier who, by playing in every game, were the iron men on tour, and to all the party for a fine performance both on and off the field.

FR: Steven Lin, Tisanu Ratanarat, Sean Chen, Wayne Chen, Tony Chen, Jeffrey Gordon

The Badminton team's usual vice grip on the City championship trophy ended this season. We were unable to recover from some early league defeats, and eventually lost 6-5 to long time rival Mt. Douglas in playoff action.

Thanks to all players for their efforts, and congratulations to Sean Chen, Jenny Ellis and Lik Ming Kam who were awarded colours.

B Team

Squash

BR: Mr. Peach, Jeffrey Blumberg, Mr. Johnson
FR: Jeremy Van Raamsdonk, Kyle Michael, Michael Smith, Deepa Abraham

The 1992 Squash season started rather slowly because of the ownership problems with the Racquet Club. However, once the "back door" to the club was found, practice began in earnest. Three teams eventually represented the school, at the Junior Boys, Senior Boys and Senior Girls levels. Numerous fine individual performances were recorded, as all teams enjoyed winning seasons. Though not always available for the school, Jeffrey Blumberg played brilliantly in finishing 2nd at the National Under 16 championships. Many thanks to all players.

Senior Cross Country

This year SMU's team was the largest in the school's history - 13 girls and 16 boys! For most participants it was their first year of running and the season was more for getting fit than serious competing. Our results were therefore most surprisingly successful: both the boys and girls placed second in the Lower Island league. At the Islands in Courtenay under windy, cold and rainy conditions, the girls placed 5th and the boys 2nd, thereby qualifying for the provincials in Abbotsford. At a most competitive event the boys placed 10th overall in BC and we were all delighted with this result.

FR: Robin Forbes; Anya Niemann; Margaret Fonger; Jason Winters; Chris Beeston; Mark Grist; Adrain Field; Kristen Yarker; James Davison

Junior Cross Country

Congratulations to this year's Junior team. A mountain of hard work resulted in huge personal improvements for most of the athletes. The 1992 season team was lead through a wet and muddy season by standouts Kristen Yarker and Sean Burson.

The combined efforts of the Midget, Bantam and Junior athletes resulted in a First Place finish in the overall city standings and a fourth place finish at the Island Championships, held in Courtenay. Well Done!

Ms. Keziere and Ms. Tobacco would like to thank all participants for their support and enthusiasm.

Interest in cycling on the Lower Island doubled this year. 16 schools competed in the Secondary School Cycling League's 5 race series. The events introduced students to some of the various types of competitions, and included a hillclimb, a road race, a time trial and two mountain bike races. Alan Jones was the Commissioner of the league again this year. SMU coach Bill Buckingham guided the team to a very creditable 5th place in the league. Jason Winters was 3rd overall in the Senior Boys standings - a fine performance considering Jason's many commitments. This was a growth year for the team with lots of interest and enthusiasm coming from the grade 9 and 10's. Mike McArthur was the recipient of the Coaches Award for his years as a dedicated and reliable team member.

Tennis

BR: Jeff McCracken, Trevor Hoskins, Clinton Yang, Jason Sturgis, Laura Neto, Andrea Heydlauff, Fraser Fletcher, Mr. Hyde-Lay

FR: Lisa Heydlauff, Christina Middleton, Fiona Scanlan, Katherine Tweedie, Jenny Ellis

The '92 tennis year began in mid-January with 50 plus students using the Racquet Club facilities. It was no easy task in determining the final team members, especially amongst the boys. A well-balanced team was decided upon, with no individual player far above the others. A full team effort was going to be needed. League play began in April with close 6-5 victories over both Lambrick Park and Mt. Doug. Easier wins were recorded over Belmont and Claremont. The City Playoffs produced an easy semi-final victory over Belmont and a place in the final against Mt. Doug. Adjustments were made by each team in the boys lineups in the hope of gaining a mismatch. On the day it worked out in SMU's favour with Jeff McCracken and Trevor Hoskins winning a crucial doubles match. The girls also came through strongly to produce a solid 8-3 win. This put us #1 in the City and earned a berth to the BC tournament.

So it was on to the Islands to determine rankings for the BC's. Due to prior commitments a weakened team was entered and did not fare well against Shawnigan Lake and Brentwood College. We ended up third on the Island, with a tough BC draw.

The BC tournament was held in Richmond on the last weekend in May, a difficult time for all with exams upcoming. Rain on the first day meant matches were indoors and shortened to seven sets. This did not help our cause. We performed credibly in losing 3-4 to Sardis.

The second day was back outdoors and we began by losing to overall third finisher St. Georges-Crofton House. However, we bounced back in the consolation round to take revenge on Brentwood College. Tim Stevenson and Shawn Dogimont won the final deciding set in a tiebreaker to give us a 6-5 victory. We then paired up with Mt. Doug for the unofficial Island final. Everyone was tired and again it came down to team strategies which this time favoured Mt. Doug as we went down 4-7 in close games.

The final day saw us up against West Vancouver and although the match was close we lost 4-7 to finish a commendable twelfth overall. Our player of the tournament was Andrea Heydlauff, who performed consistently well in all her singles and doubles games.

The ISA tournaments were played away this year, with our best showing coming from the Junior girls. Congratulations to Katherine Tweedie, Arlene Wong, and three Grade 8's led by Joanna Holdsworth. This augers well for the future.

Overall, it was an up and down year. When we were hot we were hot, but unfortunately the reverse could also be true. Top performers included Shawn Dogimont, Jeff McCracken and Andrea and Lisa Heydlauff. Jenny Ellis and Fraser Fletcher received school colours, with Fraser collecting the most outstanding player award.

Thanks to everyone for the effort and the good times. I wish those not returning the best for the future and challenge all returnees to keep up the court time. Thanks again.

The emphasis this year seemed to be less on mass participation and more on a smaller number of athletes setting and achieving personal goals. The Senior Girls team was led by Margaret Fonger, Jenny Ellis, Kristen Yarker and Briony Angus while Ravind Grewal, Ryan Van Roode and Mark Grist led the boys. The Senior team placed second in the city meet and fourth in the Islands, with the championship 4x400m relay performance of Andrew Field, Ravind, Ryan and Mark the highlight. Thirteen SMU athletes then went on to the highly competitive provincial meet, with Margaret running strongly to qualify for both the 100 and 400 metre finals.

The Junior team also faced stiff competition in both the City and Island meets. Congratulations to Kristen, who won the 100m hurdles, and to the winning 4x400m relay team of Andrew Field, Roland Singh, Emmet Connolly and Carlos Michel.

The coaches, Ms Keziere, Ms Tobacco, Mr. Cook and Mr. Skinner, wish to thank all students who participated during the season. Well Done!

A year full of hope and great expectations proved to live up to its advance billing as the team enjoyed the most successful season in school history. Six Invitational tournament crowns, a 50-4 overall record, a successful Island title defence and a resounding, comprehensive provincial AAA championship certainly made the 1991-92 campaign a memorable one.

Again, the highlights of the season were many and varied. We opened the year by defeating Camosun College 78-69 and remained unbeaten until the New Year when, plagued by illness and injuries, we went down 76-69 to Austin Lathrop H.S. of Fairbanks, Alaska in the semifinal of the Encore Invitational in Tuscon, Arizona. Later in January, still battered by injury, we won the prestigious Vancouver College Emerald Tournament with an outstanding 75-59 victory over the hosts, against whom we enjoyed a great rivalry all year. Next came a successful defence of our own SMU Invitational with a 69-62 win over crosstown rival Belmont.

On to the playoffs, where upsets proved the order of the day. Belmont fell to Mount Douglas in the City tournament, leaving us an easy path through to the Islands, where we successfully defended our 1991 title with huge wins over Cowichan and Belmont, and a third hard fought triumph over then #1 ranked Alberni.

Thus we returned to Vancouver and the Agrodome for the provincial tournament. Rested, ready and having regained the #1 seed, we played four outstanding games, easily defeating Columneetza of Williams Lake, defending champs Richmond, Cinderella West Vancouver, and then Scott Walton led Pitt Meadows, who had upset pre tourney co-favorite Vancouver College 74-73 in the other semifinal. Our final game winning margin of 28 points (76-48) was a tournament record, and gave us the much coveted AAA provincial title.

The team possessed any number of outstanding individual players but perhaps the most remarkable features were unselfishness and depth. Indeed, without question, the second unit could have perhaps qualified for the provincial tournament on its own merit.

The talented starting five was spearheaded by arguably the finest backcourt in BC high school hoops history, as Stephen Nash and Milan Uzelac provided unparalleled ballhandling, shooting, defence and leadership. Up front, swingman Jamie Miller developed an outstanding all-round game, while posts Jan Schmidt and Jeremy Harris provided an excellent mix of defence, scoring and rebounding. All-Star and MVP honors followed this group at virtually all tournament stops.

Off the bench, the second quintet was also extremely talented. Guard Martin Nash thrilled crowds all over the province with his exciting play, while rainbow shooting Ryan Van Roode ripped zone defences apart on a regular basis. In the front court, Mark Grist's all-purpose game, especially his passing, provided extremely valuable on numerous occasions, while posts Chris Isherwood and Brendan Barry were rarely outplayed by more illustrious opponents. Indeed, when illness and injury, particularly to Schmidt, who missed 20 games with a back ailment, necessitated changes, the team rarely suffered any noticeable drop in performance. Also in reserve was guard Brent McLay and talented juniors Damian Grant and Ryan Green. Furthermore, seven others, who played for an equally successful "B's" also made several appearances on the A squad. Other than Ed Crothall, who graduates, Renton Leversedge, Bill Hann, Hywel Jones, Mathew Franklin, Stu Kerr and Aaron Clark should all make a major contribution in 92-93.

Many thanks to a loyal crowd of parents and students who supported us so superbly all year, particularly in Vancouver during the provincial finals. Also, thanks to a talented volunteer band of minor officials who worked many games, and to so many others who toiled quietly and efficiently behind the scenes. You were all part of a wonderful season.

The Senior Girls Basketball team had one of the most successful seasons in many years, placing third in the league, after battling with Parkland, and narrowly missing a berth in the B.C.'s. The team highlight was our own SMU Invitational (rumored to have the best T-shirts, thanks to Michelle). They showed much character by fighting back from 20 point deficits. Our Seniors, Lauren Gainor, Margaret Fonger and Cari Burdett will be much missed for their rebounding, scoring and leadership.

The 1991-92 Jr. boys basketball season was challenging and successful. With a solid group of grade 10's and a wealth of grade 9 potential, we set our goal on being #1 in the city, finishing in the top 3 on the Island and playing in the provincial tournament in March.

After a traditionally slow start with many adjustments, we hit our stride by the end of January and won the prestigious Jr. Police tournament. Shortly thereafter we had the opportunity to play a rematch with provincially ranked #4 Vancouver College at UVic's McKinnon gym. The stage was set, the scenario perfect. We had lost a close game earlier in the season to College and the boys were pumped. In front of several hundred fans, both teams put on an exciting and spirited performance. After battling a shaky start we went up 10 pts. at the half on a long 3 pt shot by Andrew Shostak. The second half was also shaky for us and College fought their way back and we found ourselves up 1 pt with under a minute to play. After several frantic attempts by each team trying to put the other away, College hit a tough, pressured baseline jumper to go ahead by 1 pt, with only 6 seconds left. TIMEOUT! We drew a play and things worked to perfection. Ole inbounded to Shost, 3-4 dribbles, pass to Andrew Barry alone under the hoop, he goes up ----HOOONK---- and releases the ball. Too late, no basket, College wins by 1 pt.

While we had a number of wins after that game, I think we played our best that day and we couldn't seem to sustain the same kind of intensity or execution through the balance of the season. Consequently, we struggled in our last couple of league games, after already clinching the league title. We finished 2nd in the city tourney to Reynolds after hammering them in the Police tourney and league play. This was an omen, because we lost our semi-final game in the Island tournament to a tall and talented Carihi team from Campbell River. We then lost our next game, again to Reynolds, for our 2nd loss in the tourney, and to them, in as many weeks. We were out, our season over!

Although marked by a disappointing finish, the season was a success. It was full of exciting, challenging, learning experiences, and opportunities to develop as individuals and, as members of a team, through the game we love.

Watch for us next year!

FR: Adrienne Price, Kirsten May, Melissa Sawyer, Angela Tongue, Alison Pengelly

The Junior Girls Basketball team struggled through a difficult season in the highly competitive City League. A lack of experience and fundamentals were invariably exposed, though the team improved a good deal in two months. A highlight was successfully defending the ISA championship, held at Collingwood, where Melissa Sawyer played particularly well. Best of luck to all players next season.
